Final Argument Being Heard in 'Clinton Trial'

Racial Dispute Seen Going to Jury for Decision Tuesday

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Opposing lawyers are bringing final arguments to the jury today in the highly charged "Clinton trial" milestone case in the struggle over civil rights.

Afterwards, U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor will instruct the jurors—10 men and two women, all white—on the legal complexities of the trial. Deliberations probably will begin Tuesday.

Awaiting judgment are 10 Tennesseans, one a woman, and John Kasper, 27-year-old Northern segregationist. They are charged with criminal contempt of court.

The U. S. government asserts that the 10 conspired with Kasper to violate a federal court order segregation of the high school in Clinton last fall, and that they committed "overt acts" to keep Negroes out of the school.

The complication lies primarily in the conspiracy section of the government's charge.

IN HIS STATEMENT, Taylor will explain to the jurors whether they must find that more than one person "conspired" with Kasper in order to convict him. Lawyers say there have been instances where only one defendant in a conspiracy trial was found guilty. Kasper is the only one named in the court injunction.

The maximum sentence possible in this case is six months in jail and $1,000 fine, or both.

Along with the question of the guilt or innocence of the 11 accused people are these questions:

1. Will a white Southern jury convict other whites in a trial going out of the struggle over segregation?

Juror John T. Reynolds, a bank teller, said when he was being examined for duty, "I don't believe in mixing the races."

Another juror, Herbert F. Hartman, 70, retired businessman, expressed similar feelings.

But both said "Yes" when U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. asked, as he did of all the jury candidates, "Do you believe the country should be obeyed, even when you don't agree with them?"

2. How will the verdict, whichever way it goes, affect the great debate on civil rights legislation now raging in the Senate?

3. If all 11 defendants are cleared of the government's charge, will the high school in Clinton remain integrated?

Taylor's desegregation order is still on the books, and the injunction restraining anyone from interfering with integration in Clinton still stands.

But many people here feel that a complete acquittal would be interpreted as a clear verdict against integration in Tennessee. They believe it would be doubly difficult to enforce the order, then, anywhere in the state.

Drilling Gets Under Way at 2nd Test Well

Drilling started early Monday at Kewanee Oil Co.'s second Fayette County test well on the farm of Mrs. Edgar Wilson, Miami Trace Rd., a half mile north of Route 62.

The first test well, on the Edward Hopkins farm, Creek Rd., was abandoned two weeks ago when drillers struck bed rock.

Work of raising the derrick was completed Sunday forenoon at the Wilson farm and the crew then started preparing the outfit for actual drilling.

The second well may show some radical geologic changes from the first test well which was drilled 4,706 feet before striking granite.

A large number of visitors watched the work of erecting the derrick, and were on the grounds during the early hours of Sunday night, attracted by the glare of light from the derrick which can be seen for miles.

DP&L Buys Sabina Power, Water Plants In $382,152 Deal

UTILITIES SALE—Herbert Nonneman, municipal representative of the Dayton Power & Light Co., presents a check for $382,152 to John Petty, president of the Sabina Board of Public Affairs, at the close of negotiations for Sabina's water and electric plants Monday. F. E. Hill (left), manager of the DP&L southern division, will be in general charge of the new operation while Dr. Tom Faehnle (right) is a board member who has backed the sale.

SABINA—Sale of the municipal electric and water systems here to the Dayton Power and Light Co. for a total of $382,152 was completed here Monday morning.

The proposed sale of the village-owned utilities had been a controversial issue here for months.

Of the total sale price, $325,997 is for the electric plant and $56,155 for the water plant. This represents an increase of $5,867 for the electric system and $1,155 for the water system over a bid originally submitted on May 17.

These additions reflect increases in the value of the system resulting from the additions made since the earlier bid.

All present employees of the two system have been offered positions with DP&L at higher rates than they were paid by the city. The former superintendent, Orville Wilson, has been appointed sub-office supervisor, and the former clerk, Mary E. Miller, has been named district sub-office clerk.

Wilson's office will be established in space leased from the city in the city building.

THE ELECTRIC rates now paid by DP&L customers in Wilmington and Washington C. H. will immediately be applied in Sabina. This will result in a substantial reduction in the monthly bills of all residential customers, Kenneth Long, DP&L president said.

The accounts of all the industrial customers will be studied and they will be given the benefit of a choice between the available DP&L rates or the former Sabina municipal rates, whichever is to their advantage.

Here is a table of typical monthly residential bills showing the savings that will result:

KW Hours	Sabina	DP&L
10	$1.00	$.75
50	2.50	2.06
100	4.75	3.69
150	6.25	5.06
200	7.75	6.44
250	9.00	7.56
300	10.25	8.69

The total annual savings of residential customers alone is expected to exceed $15,000.

THE Dayton Power and Light Company will operate the present Sabina electric plant for a short time until a substation can be built at the edge of the town and a 33,000-volt transmission line between Wilmington and Washington C. H. tapped. The substation will transform the 33,000 volts to 12,000 for local distribution.

Ohio Congressmen Seek Law Allowing More Wheat Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohioans in Congress representing rural areas are pushing for passage this year of a law that would permit farmers to grow more wheat for use on the farm without penalty.

Furthermore, Rep. Henderson (R-Ohio) said today, "I feel that if the bill isn't crowded out by a quick adjournment it has a good chance of becoming a law."

Rep. Polk (D-Ohio) said he does not want to predict what will happen in view of the civil rights fight that is monopolizing the Senate's time.

But he said that if the legislation "does go into effect, it will help out substantially in our area."

On the Senate side, Ohio Republican John W. Bricker calls the bill important legislation.

The Senate has passed a bill to let farmers grow all the wheat they want, without penalty, so long as they use it for feed, seed or flour for food consumed on the farm.

Another bill has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee and is expected to come up soon for floor action.

The House bill is much less generous than the Senate version. It would permit wheat for farm use to be grown on up to 30 acres of land.

The Senate bill also would permit refunds on penalties paid by farmers for exceeding the present 15-acre limitation for 1954-55-56 crops.

The Senate version is the one that Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants. However, he says he will accept a less sweeping version if necessary.

Commercial wheat growers have opposed the bills, fearing competition from farmers growing their own wheat for seed and feed.

However, Benson says:

"Enactment of the legislation would be another step toward achievement of our objective—that farmers be permitted to operate their farms with a maximum of freedom."

Break in Heat Seen Tuesday; Showers Ahead

Extended Forecast Indicates Pleasant Weather for Fair

Fayette County, which broiled in 93-degree humid heat Sunday, is expected to get a break Tuesday when cooler air moves in accompanied by showers.

Actually, the shower activity may begin Monday afternoon, although the initial precipitation is not expected to bring any more than temporary relief.

Here is the forecast for the next five days:

Temperatures will average 3 to 6 degrees below normal; normal high 86 to 89, normal low 62-65. Turning cooler Tuesday and Wednesday, mostly fair with moderate temperatures Thursday through Saturday. Scattered showers likely tonight and Tuesday, and possibly over north portion Wednesday. Total rainfall one-half to three-fourths inch.

Blistering Heat Hits Eastern U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More hot and humid weather blistered wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today after a weekend of scorching temperatures.

Deaths attributed to the heat and drownings mounted. At least 39 persons drowned as millions flocked to lakes and streams seeking relief from the heat.

There was some possibility of a little relief in northern Midwest areas but none in the sun-baked areas in the Middle Atlantic states southward through Georgia.

A cool front that had been fairly stationary for several days across northern Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and the northern Great Lakes region started to move southward during the night.

Showers and thunderstorms broke out in a narrow belt from the upper Great Lakes region southwest into the Plains.

THE EASTERN Seaboard, from Virginia to New York, sweltered in the summer's hottest weather Sunday. Thermometers bubbled past the 100-degree mark in many cities, including Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia.

The 103 reading at Baltimore was near the record 104 for the date. Washington sizzled in 101 heat, the highest reading in the nation's capital in three years. The millions in New York City felt just as hot with a torrid 97.3

Zanesville Boy Driver Clocked At 115 Mph.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Police said a Zanesville boy led them on a 25-mile chase at speeds up to 115 m.p.h. Sunday night, narrowly missing cars at a crowded drive-in theater exit.

Raymond R. Wilks, 17, was captured in Delaware where highway patrolmen said he tried to shake off his pursuers.

Police said the youth was clocked at 110 m.p.h. a mile north of Worthington on U. S. 23, and at that point a highway patrol car joined in the pursuit. Officers said Wilks, driving a "hopped-up" late model convertible, drew steadily away from them, adding, "we didn't have a chance."

Police said the youth maintained his terrific speed past a drive-in theater near Delaware. "We thought he'd had it," officers said.

Not long afterward Delaware police and highway patrolmen caught him in an alley at Delaware after the youth's car narrowly escaped collision with a taxicab.

Worthington police said Wilks had regained his operator's license just two months ago after suspension for speeding.

Held at the Juvenile Detention Center here, the boy told police: "I don't know why I did it."

Texas Redbud Tree Off on Crying Jag

DALLAS (AP)—A tree on a crying jag helps keep the W. S. Werners cool.

Branches of the redbud tree spurt tiny jets of a clear liquid. Werner said from a distance it "looks like a fine mist." The branches produce droplets which look similar to "large tears," he said.

A nurseryman, Werner said, told him the trunk may have loaded up on water during the heavy spring rains.

Calm water and ideal weather conditions are important for the delicate maneuvering.

O'Neill Putting Damper On Dr. Sam's Lie Test

Senate Presses 'Rights' Debate

3rd Week of Bitter Controversy Starts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate started a third week of debate on bill today with supporters vowing the administration's civil rights to keep its right-to-vote provisions intact.

Their expressed determination on this point coincided with mounting indications that only a last-minute compromise could save another section aimed at strengthening the enforcement of all civil rights.

All sides seemed to be in agreement, however, that an old Reconstruction era law permitting the President to use the armed forces to carry out court orders in civil rights cases should be repealed.

Senators Knowland (R-Calif.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.), leaders in the fight for the civil rights bill, joined in offering an amendment to do this. The amendment is expected to be voted on today.

Adoption of this amendment would be the first Senate change in the bill passed by the House.

It also would represent a concession to Southern senators who protested that, under the wording of the bill, the old troop-authority law could be used to force school integration and other mixing of the races on the South "at bayonet point."

THE BILL'S supporters replied that President Eisenhower had made clear there was no intention of using troops to enforce the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

They accused the Southerners of throwing up a "smoke-screen" argument, but they said they had no objection to repealing the old law.

In the Senate debate so far, the principal controversy has centered about Part 3 of the bill. This would authorize the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of civil rights in general.

Similar authority is provided in another section for the protection of voting rights. Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt.) have offered an amendment to strike out Part 3 of the bill, and present indications are that the Senate may vote on this Tuesday. If adopted, it would tend to limit the bill to enforcement of voting rights.

Big Mackinac Span Slated For Lockup

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—Weather permitting, the huge steel sections to connect the longest toll suspension bridge in the world are to be locked into place today on the $100 million Mackinac Straits span.

Except for two 240-foot gaps from the main towers toward shore, the straits then will have been bridged for the first time in history. The gaps are expected to be bridged quickly once the final suspension section is in place.

The giant bridge, its 3,800-foot center span second only in length to the Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco, is to be completed Nov. 1. The bridge's total length including approaches is just under five miles.

The job of lifting the 109-ton steel sections that will support a suspended four-lane roadway for 8,614 feet requires split-second timing and teamwork.

Each section, box-like in design, is lifted from a barge and locked to steel suspender ropes hanging down from the main cables.

The main cables, 24½ inches in diameter, provide the only support for the hoisting device that lifts the steel sections. Each section is 70 feet wide, 120 feet long and 40 feet deep.

The sections were assembled at St. Ignace and brought to the bridge on the barge. The barge anchored directly beneath the hoist for lines to be dropped and fastened to the steel.

Calm water and ideal weather conditions are important for the delicate maneuvering.

Fair Week Opens; Exhibitors Pour in

This is Fair Week in Fayette County.

It opened under almost cloudless bright blue skies and a blazing sun that sent the mercury climbing back up into the 90s again.

But the heat failed to cool the ardor of the hundreds of exhibitors or concessionaires who started streaming through the gates Saturday. By Sunday, the influx had reached almost flood proportions and continued Monday.

Within a matter of two days the empty and deserted Fairground was transformed into a place of hustle and bustle, literally crammed with tents, trucks, automobiles, temporary buildings and trailers—a colorful panorama.

But by noon Monday—the beginning of Fair Week—a semblance of order was beginning to emerge from what appeared on the surface to be chaos.

THE MIDWAY was beginning to take form just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave. Tents for the shows were rising, one after another, and the skeletons of the thrill rides were pushing up to form the familiar and exciting skyline. Completing the circle were

Woman, 27, Kills Mate in Dispute

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—A 27-year-old woman who admitted killing her husband during an argument is being held by Mahoning County authorities.

Sue Evera told deputies that she shot her husband, Robert Evera Jr., 31, Sunday night with an automatic pistol after he had beaten her. Deputies found Evera's body in the bathroom of his Boardman Twp. home. He had been shot four times.

Following the shooting, Mrs. Evera telephoned her father-in-law, Robert Evera, at Sharon, Pa., 18 miles away. He notified authorities.

The couple, married for five years, have a three-year-old son. Evera, an electrical engineer, was employed by the Carlson Electric Co. in Warren.

'Truth' Sought From Florida

Experts Note Doubt About Con's Confession

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Sam Sheppard would not receive a lie detector test until the "confession" of a Florida prisoner that he killed the doctor's wife is determined to be true.

The governor announced his position after a telegram from the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, cast doubt upon the validity of a confession by Donald Wedler.

Wedler said he bludgeoned a woman during a burglary in July 1954. There was no definite date given. Dr. Sam's wife, Marilyn, was killed in her Cleveland suburban home July 4. Sheppard, who protested his innocence, is serving a life sentence for her slaying.

In New York, Gardner said it appeared to him that "justice in Ohio is on trial before the bar of public opinion in every state of the Union."

"If they're so certain Sheppard is guilty," he added, "why are they so damned afraid to give him a lie detector test? That's the $64,000 question."

"And another thing, if Sheppard is not to receive a lie detector test until Wedler's confession has been proved conclusively, then what would be the object of giving Sheppard any test afterward?"

O'Neill, who last week gave permission for a lie detector test to Sheppard, changed his position after receiving this telegram from the Court of Last Resort, an unofficial body created to prove innocent those who may have been wrongly convicted.

"WE ARE STILL not prepared to take as true the confession of Donald Wedler. But following our examination of him in Florida we admit a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. However, no one should form any final opinion on this man until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric investigation."

"There are some important major conflicts between his story and existing fact. These conflicts may have been the result of drug

8 Youngsters Die as Train Smashes Auto

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—Eight youngsters, including a boy and his two sisters, were killed when a freight train hit their old-model car at a railroad crossing near here Sunday.

The dead, all of Somerset, were: Charles Allen, 13, and his two sisters, Frances, 14 and Josephine, 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Calmeria, 12; Charles Simmons, 16; James Richards, 16, and Ronald Davis, 17.

The victims were identified by members of their family in a temporary morgue set up in the fire department.

Coroner Kenneth Gibbs said personnel on the Southern Railway freight told him the 1941 car approached the crossing at 35-40 miles an hour "and didn't seem to hesitate."

Gibbs said the train's crew told him the freight was going about 50 miles an hour when it hit the car.

The car, which burst into flame, was damaged so badly the engine had to be dismantled before officers could determine its make or registration. The car was thrown 300 yards.

Five of the youngsters were trapped in the burning wreckage, the other three were thrown clear. The worst car-train wreck on record was in Phoenix, Ariz., where 12 persons died on December 17, 1956.

Sheriff Gilmore Phelps said a 15-year-old boy who had been in the car earlier in the day said the brakes were bad.

Phelps also said two witnesses told him the car approached the train with a flat tire.

The youngsters, all friends, had gone swimming earlier in the day. Phelps said they were "just messing around" in the car during the day, driving around to see various people.

It's 'Christmas' Despite Summer

VICKSBURG, Mich. (AP)—The temperature was a blistering 90-plus but five churches in this southern Michigan community celebrated Christmas Sunday.

The Methodist, Evangelical, United Brethren, Assembly of God and Free Methodist churches all were decorated with Christmas trees and other yuletide symbols. No gifts were exchanged and Santa Claus was missing, but Christmas carols and hymns were sung.

The Rev. George P. Stanford, whose Methodist Church was celebrating Christmas in July for the fifth year, said he began the practice as "a protest against the commercialism that accompanies Christmas in December."

Raymond R. Wilks, 17, was captured in Delaware where highway patrolmen said he tried to shake off his pursuers.

Police said the youth was clocked at 110 m.p.h. a mile north of Worthington on U. S. 23, and at that point a highway patrol car joined in the pursuit. Officers said Wilks, driving a "hopped-up" late model convertible, drew steadily away from them, adding, "we didn't have a chance."

Police said the youth maintained his terrific speed past a drive-in theater near Delaware. "We thought he'd had it," officers said. Not long afterward Delaware police and highway patrolmen caught him in an alley at Delaware after the youth's car narrowly escaped collision with a taxicab.

Worthington police said Wilks had regained his operator's license just two months ago after suspension for speeding.

Held at the Juvenile Detention Center here, the boy told police: "I don't know why I did it."

Texas Redbud Tree Off on Crying Jag

DALLAS (AP)—A tree on a crying jag helps keep the W. S. Warners cool.

Branches of the redbud tree spurt tiny jets of a clear liquid. Warners said from a distance it "looks like a fine mist." The branches produce droplets which look similar to "large tears," he said.

A nurseryman, Werner said, told him the trunk may have loaded up on water during the heavy spring rains.

O'Neill Putting Damper On Dr. Sam's Lie Test

Senate Presses 'Rights' Debate

3rd Week of Bitter Controversy Starts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate started a third week of debate on bill today with supporters vowing the administration's civil rights to keep its right-to-vote provisions intact.

Their expressed determination on this point coincided with mounting indications that only a last-minute compromise could save another section aimed at strengthening the enforcement of all civil rights.

All sides seemed to be in agreement, however, that an old Reconstruction era law permitting the President to use the armed forces to carry out court orders in civil rights cases should be repealed.

Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Humphrey (D-Minn), leaders in the fight for the civil rights bill, joined in offering an amendment to do this. The amendment is expected to be voted on today.

Adoption of this amendment would be the first Senate change in the bill passed by the House.

It also would represent a concession to Southern senators who protested that, under the wording of the bill, the old troop-authority law could be used to force school integration and other mixing of the races on the South "at bayonet point."

THE BILL'S supporters replied that President Eisenhower had made clear there was no intention of using troops to enforce the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision.

They accused the Southerners of throwing up a "smoke-screen" argument, but they said they had no objection to repealing the old law.

In the Senate debate so far, the principal controversy has centered about Part 3 of the bill. This would authorize the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of civil rights in general.

Similar authority is provided in another section for the protection of voting rights. Under both sections, persons accused of disobeying injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have offered an amendment to strike out Part 3 of the bill, and present indications are that the Senate may vote on this Tuesday. If adopted, it would tend to limit the bill to enforcement of voting rights.

Big Mackinac Span Slated For Lockup

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—Weather permitting, the huge steel sections to connect the longest total suspension bridge in the world are to be locked into place today on the $100 million Mackinac Straits span.

Except for two 240-foot girders from the main towers toward shore, the straits then will have been bridged for the first time in history. The gaps are expected to be bridged quickly once the final suspension section is in place.

The giant bridge, its 3,800-foot center span second only in length to the Golden Gate Bridge at San Francisco, is to be completed Nov. 1. The bridge's total length including approaches is just under five miles.

The job of lifting the 100-ton steel sections that will support a suspended four-lane roadway for 8,614 feet requires split-second timing and teamwork.

Each section, box-like in design, is lifted from a barge and locked to steel suspender ropes hanging down from the main cables.

The main cables, 24½ inches in diameter, provide the only support for the hoisting device that lifts the steel sections. Each section is 70 feet wide, 120 feet long and 40 feet deep.

The sections were assembled at St. Ignace and brought to the bridge on the barge. The barge anchored directly beneath the hoist for lines to be dropped and fastened to the steel.

Calm water and ideal weather conditions are important for the delicate maneuvering.

Skeltons Meet with Pope

COMEDIAN RED SKELTON and his wife, on a tour with their children, Valentina, 10, and Richard, 9, victims of leukemia, meet with His Holiness Pope Pius XII in a private audience at the Vatican. The meeting was the high point of the world tour Skelton is taking his son on in an attempt to show him as much of the world as possible in the short time he has left. Doctors give him less than a year to live. The Holy Father presented each member of the family with a pontifical medal bearing the papal shield and gave Richard a special blessing.

Fair Week Opens; Exhibitors Pour in

This is Fair Week in Fayette County.

It opened under almost cloudless bright blue skies and a blazing sun that sent the mercury climbing back up into the 90s again.

But the heat failed to cool the ardor of the hundreds of exhibitors or concessionaires who started streaming through the gates Saturday. By Sunday, the influx had reached almost flood proportions and continued Monday.

Within a matter of two days the empty and deserted Fairground was transformed into a place of hustle and bustle, literally crammed with tents, trucks, automobiles, temporary buildings and trailers—a colorful panorama.

But, by noon Monday—the beginning of Fair Week—a semblance of order was beginning to emerge from what appeared on the surface to be chaos.

THE MIDWAY was beginning to take form just inside the main gate on Fairview Ave. Tents for the shows were rising, one after another, and the skeletons of the thrill rides were pushing up to form the familiar and exciting skyline. Completing the circle were the smaller concessions.

Around the outside of the Midway were scores of trailers, lending more color to the already colorful picture.

All the while, the steady procession of cars and trucks continued through the gates as exhibitors brought in everything from dainty needlework to livestock.

None were busier than the boys and girls of the youth organizations, of which the 4-H clubs were the most numerous by far. With their harried advisors they were all over the Fairground, setting up their displays.

There was plenty of activity "back on the hill," where the sheep, hogs and cattle were being unloaded from trucks and taken to the places in the barns and in temporary quarters under tents where they will spend the rest of the week. However, there appeared to be less of the feverish activity here; it all moved at a slower and more orderly pace.

IN THE STREAM of exhibitors pouring through the gates were the big pieces of lumbering farm equipment on their way to the commercial display area between the Merchants Building and the grandstand.

H. H. Denton, director in charge of the outside commercial displays, and Frank E. Ellis, secretary of the Fair Board, said: "Our big problem is space...we've never had so many requests for a place to set up so many different types of displays. They admitted some requests had to be denied."

It's 'Christmas' Despite Summer

VICKSBURG, Mich. (AP)—The temperature was a blistering 90-plus but five churches in this southern Michigan community celebrated Christmas Sunday.

The Methodist, Evangelical, United Brethren, Assembly of God and Free Methodist churches all were decorated with Christmas trees and other yuletide symbols. No gifts were exchanged and Santa Claus was missing, but Christmas carols and hymns were sung.

The Rev. George P. Stanford, whose Methodist Church was celebrating Christmas in July for the fifth year, said he began the practice as "a protest against the commercialism that accompanies Christmas in December."

'Truth' Sought From Florida

Experts Note Doubt About Con's Confession

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Sam Sheppard will not receive a lie detector test until the "confession" of a Florida prisoner that he killed the doctor's wife is determined to be true.

The governor announced his position after a telegram from the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, east doubt upon the validity of a confession by Donald Wedler.

Wedler said he bludgeoned a woman during a burglary in July 1954. There was no definite date given. Dr. Sam's wife, Marilyn, was killed in her Cleveland suburban home July 4. Sheppard, who protested his innocence, is serving a life sentence for her slaying.

In New York, Gardner said it appeared to him that "justice in Ohio is on trial before the bar of public opinion in every state of the Union."

"If they're so certain Sheppard is guilty," he added, "why are they so damned afraid to give him a lie detector test? That's the $64,000 question."

"And another thing, if Sheppard is not to receive a lie detector test until Wedler's confession has been proved conclusively, then what would be the object of giving Sheppard any test afterward?"

O'Neill, who last week gave permission for a lie detector test to Sheppard, changed his position after receiving this telegram from the Court of Last Resort, an unofficial body created to prove innocent those who may have been wrongly convicted.

"WE ARE STILL not prepared to take as true the confession of Donald Wedler. But following our examination of him in Florida we admit to a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. However, no one should form any final opinion on this man until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric investigation."

"There are some important major conflicts between his story and existing fact. These conflicts may have been the result of drug

8 Youngsters Die as Train Smashes Auto

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—Eight youngsters, including a boy and his two sisters, were killed when a freight train hit their old-model car at a railroad crossing near here Sunday.

The dead, all of Somerset, were: Charles Allen, 13, and his two sisters, Frances, 14 and Josephine 15; Betty Bray, 15; James Calhoun, 12; Charles Simmons, 16; James Richards, 16, and Ronald Davis, 7.

The victims were identified by members of their family in a temporary morgue set up in the fire department.

Coroner Kenneth Gibbs said personnel on the Southern Railway freight told him the 1941 car approached the crossing at 35-40 miles an hour "and didn't seem to hesitate."

Gibbs said the train's crew told him the freight was going about 50 miles an hour when it hit the car.

The car, which burst into flame, was damaged so badly the engine had to be dismantled before officers could determine its make or registration. The car was thrown 300 yards.

Five of the youngsters were trapped in the burning wreckage, the other three were thrown clear.

The worst car-train wreck on record was in Phoenix, Ariz., where 12 persons died on December 17, 1956.

Sheriff Gilmore Phelps said a 15-year-old boy who had been in the car earlier in the day said the brakes were bad.

Phelps also said two witnesses told him the car approached the train with a flat tire.

The youngsters, all friends, had gone swimming earlier in the day. Phelps said they were "just messing around" in the car during the day, driving around to see various people.

O'Neill pointed out that earlier telegrams from the court said there was not the slightest evidence of deception in Wedler's statement. But the governor said the latest telegram uses the language "or just plain deception."

"This present telegram," O'Neill said, "indicates the tests show he may be guilty of just plain deception."

"I have discussed this with Warden Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary. It is my opinion and his that until the truthfulness of this confession is determined, there should be no lie detector test given to Sheppard."

O'Neill said he would wire a similar statement to the Court of Last Resort.

The judge who presided at the trial of Dr. Sheppard when he was convicted of murdering his wife in 1954 called on Ohio's attorney general to deny any group the privilege of acting as a "court of last resort" in Ohio.

In a strongly worded statement, Judge Edward Blythin termed the test "nothing short of fantastic" and questioned the "ethics and propriety" of such a test by a non-official agency.

But Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, commenting on Judge Blythin's statement, pointed out that the Court of Last Resort had been invited here by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

"If Gov. O'Neill is inviting them in or is cooperating with them, that's his business," Saxbe declared. He added, however, that he doubted the results would be a basis for a new trial plea even if they were favorable for Sheppard. Lie tests are not acceptable as evidence in Ohio courts.

"THE ONLY thing that can free Sam Sheppard is a pardon by the governor," Saxbe said. "If they dig up a new criminal and he is convicted then Sheppard can be pardoned."

O'Neill declined to comment.

The governor approved the agency's request to test Sheppard after the organization administered a lie test last week to a Florida prisoner who said he killed a woman in Cleveland in July 1954 under circumstances similar to the Sheppard case.

Donald J. Wedler, 23, jailed on a burglary charge in Deland, Fla., was administered the test by Alex Gregory of the Court of Last Resort. After the test, Gregory said Wedler is "telling the truth or what he believes to be the truth."

When shown a photograph of Wedler, Sheppard remarked: "I have a vague feeling this is the man who attacked me."

The osteopath, who has claimed his innocence all along, said he was twice knocked out by a "bushy-haired" intruder whom he blamed for his wife's death. But Wedler said he encountered a man at the murder scene whom he struck only once.

Judge Blythin, a former Cleveland mayor, was on the bench during the 10-week trial in which a jury convicted Sheppard Dec. 31, 1954, of killing his pregnant wife Marilyn. She was beaten to death July 4, 1954, in their home in Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb. Dr. Sheppard is serving a life sentence in the Ohio Pen.

Three Crashes Over Weekend

One Driver Fined In Fence Collision

One driver was fined as three minor accidents were reported to law officers here over the weekend. There were no injuries.

Fined $25 and costs for driving without a license and $25 and costs for reckless operation, was Floyd Southworth, 40, who crashed through a fence on Route 70 north, owned by Albert Bryant. Southworth pleaded guilty before Judge Max G. Dice.

A car driven by Karl Edward Knisley, 29, of 819 S. Fayette St., hit the rear of a car driven by Barbara L. Gilmore, 19, of 526 Campbell St. on S. Fayette St. near Circle Ave. about 7 P. M. Sunday. An auto pushing another auto was struck from the rear on the CCC Highway west about 2:15 a. m. Sunday. Driver of the pushing car was Harry Phil Chakkers, 19, of 131 S. Fayette St., while Charles Runn, 21, of 612 E. Elm St., was at the wheel of the car being pushed.

Carl N. Gatterdam, 39, of Columbus, skidded 90 feet before bumping Chakkers' car in the rear, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Back and away from the most of the turmoil, but nevertheless in the midst of activity, horses were coming in by trailer and a van for the four days of harness racing, which starts at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Out on the race track, trainers oblivious to all the confusion elsewhere, were methodically going around and around with their horses to keep them limbered up and in shape for the races to come. Around the barns, the groomers rubbed down the horses' bandaged legs and walked them in circles to cool them out when they came off the track.

Monday was "setting up day," and although many exhibits and much of the Midway were in place by Sunday evening, the finishing touches had to be put on Monday. The Fair actually starts Tuesday night is one of the big nights on the Fair program—the night that is given over to the big Junior Fair.

From then on to after midnight Saturday, there will never be a dull moment.

Airman Handed 4-Month Sentence

FUCHU, Japan — A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor.

The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to lose $200 in pay and reduced to the rank of private from airman third class.

Wheeler contended that he had "challenged" an order to get a "white sidewall" haircut because he had received a regulation Air Force trim only the day before the order was given. But the Air Force said the action involved only "disobedience of a lawful order of his superior officer."

Ohio's Young Men Handed Challenge

PORTSMOUTH — E. J. Plott of Canton, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of district Jaycee officials here Sunday that Ohio's young men "must lead the way in opening the state's remaining economic frontiers."

"We must improve our understanding of local business climates, and then convert that understanding into constructive action to improve our communities," he said.

The district meeting was attended by young men from Athens, Chillicothe, Circleville, Ironton, Jackson, Logan, Portsmouth and Waverly.

$2500 'Hidden' In Bank Cupboard Reported Missing

WOOSTER — The $2,500 raised by the fire department at Mt. Eaton in a festival Saturday night was reported missing today from the bank at Mt. Eaton.

The money had been hidden in a cupboard in the bank at 2 a. m. Sunday because the time lock on the bank's vault was not set to open until this morning.

The money was placed in the cupboard by John Kenwell, a volunteer fireman and cashier at the bank. He was accompanied by two sheriff's deputies.

Bank employees said when they reported to work this morning they found that a window had been forced at the rear of the building.

9 Navy Airmen Killed While on Search Flight

TREVISIO, Italy — Italian police made their way slowly down the rocky side of Mt. Pora today with the bodies of eight American airmen killed Sunday when their U. S. Navy plane crashed in flames.

A ninth victim had been brought down Sunday. The plane's tenth occupant — the only survivor — was in serious condition in Turin.

Their P2V type plane sideslipped in storm winds and crashed while it was searching for a sister plane missing since Friday with 11 aboard.

Girl, 17, Lives 40 Hours in Plane Wreck

ALLIANCE, Neb. — Complete recovery was predicted today for 17-year-old Judy Diehl, who endured 40 agonizing hours trapped in a crashed airplane with the bodies of her parents and a friend.

Dr. O. L. Seng said the Cozad, Neb., girl was in "fair condition" and "we expect complete recovery."

Judy suffered a fracture of the upper left leg, possible fractures of the lower legs, lacerations and abrasions when a light plane crashed 25 miles south of Bingham, Neb., Friday night.

The girl's foot was caught under a seat and she was forced to remain in the plane until she sighted a search plane overhead and waved a white scarf Sunday.

"We were amazed to find someone alive," said Don Christiansen, photographer of the Alliance Times-Herald.

Christiansen said the bodies of Judy's father Merritt Diehl, 45, and of the pilot, Milo German, 55, Cozad plastics plant operator, were in the front seat. Judy's mother Carolyn, 45, was beside the girl in the rear of the plane.

Judy, in "surprisingly good condition" when rescuers reached her, said she did not remember the plane crashing. She said that upon waking up "I knew the others were dead."

She had only a banana to eat during the long hours, but was able to use a belt buckle to open a canned beverage and to "catch some rain water" to drink.

degrees, and in Wilmington, Del., the mercury registered 102.

Readings in the 90s were general in many other sections of the country and high humidity added to the discomfort.

Michigan reported 21 persons drowned over the weekend, while in New York there were 10 drownings. Ohio recorded four. There were at least 3 each in Illinois and Colorado and 2 in New Jersey. Two men died in Kansas City, Kan., hospitals after suffering heat exhaustion.

The Northeastern part of the nation faces shortages in production this year that may force it to import much larger than normal supplies of corn and other livestock and poultry feeds from the Midwest.

A persistent drought, described by farm officials as the worst since 1930 in many sections, is cutting sharply into prospects for corn, oats and other grains. Furthermore, it is causing pastures to dry up at a time when dairymen depend heavily on them to sustain their herds.

On top of this, the eastern production of hay—essential for winter feed—is being adversely af-

reactions and attempts to rationalize his acts or just plain deception."

O'Neill pointed out that earlier telegrams from the court said there was not the slightest evidence of deception in Wedler's statement. But the governor said the latest telegram uses the language "or just plain deception."

"This present telegram," O'Neill said, "indicates the tests show he may be guilty of just plain deception."

"I have discussed this with Warden Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary. It is my opinion and his that until the truthfulness of this confession is determined, there should be no detector test given to Sheppard."

O'Neill said he would wire a similar statement to the Court of Last Resort.

The judge who presided at the trial of Dr. Sheppard when he was convicted of murdering his wife in 1954 called on Ohio's attorney general to deny any group the privilege of acting as a "court of last resort" in Ohio.

In a strongly worded statement, Judge Edward Blythin termed the test "nothing short of fantastic" and questioned the "ethics and propriety" of such a test by a non-official agency.

But Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, commenting on Judge Blythin's statement, pointed out that the Court of Last Resort had been invited here by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

"If Gov. O'Neill is inviting them in or is cooperating with them, that's his business," Saxbe declared. He added, however, that he doubted the results would be a basis for a new trial plea even if they were favorable for Sheppard. Lie tests are not acceptable as evidence in Ohio courts.

"THE ONLY thing that can free Sam Sheppard is a pardon by the governor," Saxbe said. "If they dig up a new criminal and he is convicted then Sheppard can be pardoned."

O'Neill declined to comment.

The governor approved the agency's request to test Sheppard after the organization administered a lie test last week to a Florida prisoner who said he killed a woman in Cleveland in July 1954 under circumstances similar to the Sheppard case.

Donald J. Wedler, 23, jailed on a burglary charge in Deland, Fla., was administered the test by Alex Gregory of the Court of Last Resort. After the test, Gregory said Wedler is "telling the truth or what he believes to be the truth."

When shown a photograph of Wedler, Sheppard remarked: "I have a vague feeling this is the man who attacked me."

The osteopath, who has claimed his innocence all along, said he was twice knocked out by a "bushy-haired" intruder whom he blamed for his wife's death. But Wedler said he encountered a man at the murder scene whom he struck only once.

Judge Blythin, a former Cleveland mayor, was on the bench during the 10-week trial in which a jury convicted Sheppard Dec. 21, 1954, of killing his pregnant wife Marilyn. She was beaten to death July 4, 1954, in their home in Bay Village, a Cleveland suburb. Dr. Sheppard is serving a life sentence in the Ohio Pen.

Three Crashes Over Weekend

One driver was fined as three minor accidents were reported to law officers here over the weekend. There were no injuries.

Fined $25 and costs for driving without a license and $25 and costs for reckless operation, was Floyd Southworth, 40, who crashed through a fence on Route 70 north, owned by Albert Bryant. Southworth pleaded guilty before Judge Max G. Dice.

A car driven by Karl Edward Knisley, 29, of 819 S. Fayette St., hit the rear of a car driven by Barbara L. Gilmore, 19, of 526 Campbell St. on S. Fayette St. near Circle Ave. about 7 P. M. Sunday.

An auto pushing another was struck from the rear on the CCC Highway w about 2:15 a. m. Sunday. Driver of the pushing car was Harry Phil Chakeres, 19, of 131 S. Fayette St., while Charles Rumm, 21, of 612 E. Elm St., was at the wheel of the car being pushed.

Carl N. Gatterdam, 39, of Columbus, skidded 90 feet before bumping Chakeres' car in the rear, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Back and away from the most of the turmoil, but nevertheless in the midst of activity, horses were coming in by trailer and van for the four days of harness racing, which starts at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Out on the race track, trainers oblivious to all the confusion elsewhere, were methodically going around and around with their horses to keep them limbered up and in shape for the races to come. Around the barns, the groomers rubbed down the horses' bandaged legs and walked them in circles to cool them out when they came off the track.

Monday was "setting up day," and although many exhibits and much of the midway were in place by Sunday evening, the finishing touches had to be put on Monday.

The Fair actually starts Tuesday. Tuesday night is one of the big nights on the Fair program—the night that is given over to the big Junior Fair.

From then on to after midnight Saturday, there will never be a dull moment.

Airman Handed 4-Month Sentence

FUCHU, Japan (AP) — A 20-year-old American airman who objected to getting a "white sidewall" haircut was convicted of disobeying orders today and sentenced to four months at hard labor.

The airman, Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., also was sentenced to lose $200 in pay and reduced to the rank of private from airman third class.

Wheeler contended that he had "challenged" an order to get a "white sidewall" haircut because he had received a regulation Air Force trim only the day before the order was given. But the Air Force said the action involved only "disobedience of a lawful order of his superior officer."

Ohio's Young Men Handed Challenge

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — E. J. Plott of Canton, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of district Jaycee officials here Sunday that Ohio's young men "must lead the way in opening the state's remaining economic frontiers."

"We must improve our understanding of local business climates, and then convert that understanding into constructive action to improve our communities," he said.

The district meeting was attended by young men from Athens, Chillicothe, Circleville, Ironton, Jackson, Logan, Portsmouth and Waverly.

CUTEST DATE IN THE UNIVERSE—Lucky Navy Cadet Glen-Don Woods chats with his date for the evening, Miss Universe of 1958, Gladys Zender. Miss Universe almost did not make it when officials found that she is only 17 years and 9 months old. However, the officials, after some haggling, left to the girl from Peru the title of Miss Universe of 1958.

$2500 'Hidden' In Bank Cupboard

Reported Missing

WOOSTER (AP) — The $2,500 raised by the fire department at Mt. Eaton in a festival Saturday night was reported missing today from the bank at Mt. Eaton.

The money had been hidden in a cupboard in the bank at 2 a. m. Sunday because the time lock on the bank's vault was not set to open until this morning.

The money was placed in the cupboard by John Kenwell, a volunteer fireman and cashier at the bank. He was accompanied by two sheriff's deputies.

Bank employees said when they reported to work this morning they found that a window had been forced at the rear of the building.

9 Navy Airmen Killed While on Search Flight

TREVISIO, Italy (AP) — Italian police made their way slowly down the rocky side of Mt. Pra today with the bodies of eight American airmen killed Sunday when their U. S. Navy plane crashed in flames.

A ninth victim had been brought down Sunday. The plane's tenth occupant — the only survivor — was in serious condition in Turin.

Their P2V type plane sideslipped in storm winds and crashed while it was searching for a sister plane missing since Friday with 11 aboard.

ent distribution system may be required before this power can be delivered to the individual customers in the quantity and the class desired.

DP&L notified city officials in the course of negotiations that considerable work would also have to be done on the water system to bring it up to DP&L standards.

The engineering and operating personnel responsible for the company - operated water works at Wilmington will make a complete study of the Sabina system to formulate a long range program to provide needed improvements.

DP&L presently provides natural gas service for the village of Sabina. Future bills will include charges for electric and water service as well as gas on a single statement to approximately 800 customers.

Every effort will be made, in as short a time as possible, to bring the quality of service up to DP&L standards, Long declared. Considerable construction must take place, large sums of money must be invested, he said. "The company considers this an excellent opportunity to demonstrate the quality of service provided by private enterprise," Long concluded.

Girl, 17, Lives 40 Hours in Plane Wreck

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP) — Complete recovery was predicted today for 17-year-old Judy Diehl, who endured 40 agonizing hours trapped in a crashed airplane with the bodies of her parents and a friend.

Dr. O. L. Seng said the Cozad, Neb., girl was in "fair condition" and "we expect complete recovery."

Judy suffered a fracture of the upper left leg, possible fractures of the lower legs, lacerations and abrasions when a light plane crashed 25 miles south of Bingham, Neb., Friday night.

The girl's foot was caught under a seat and she was forced to remain in the plane until she sighted a search plane overhead and waved a white scarf Sunday.

"We were amazed to find someone alive," said Don Christiansen, photographer of the Alliance Times-Herald.

Christiansen said the bodies of Judy's father Merritt Diehl, 45, and of the pilot, Milo German, 55, Cozad plastics plant operator, were in the front seat. Judy's mother Carolyn, 45, was beside the girl in the rear of the plane.

Judy, in "surprisingly good condition" when rescuers reached her, said she did not remember the plane crashing. She said that upon waking up "I knew the others were dead."

She had only a banana to eat during the long hours, but was able to use a belt buckle to open a canned beverage and to "catch some rain water" to drink.

degrees, and in Wilmington, Del., the mercury registered 102.

Readings in the 90s were general in many other sections of the country and high humidity added to the discomfort.

Michigan reported 21 persons drowned over the weekend, while in New York there were 10 drownings. Ohio recorded four. There were at least 3 each in Illinois and Colorado and 2 in New Jersey. Two men died in Kansas City, Kan., hospitals after suffering heat exhaustion.

The northeastern part of the nation faces shortages in production this year that may force it to import much larger than normal supplies of corn and other livestock and poultry feeds from the Midwest.

A persistent drought, described by farm officials as the worst since 1930 in many sections, is cutting sharply into prospects for corn, oats and other grains. Furthermore, it is causing pastures to dry up at a time when dairy-men depend heavily on them to sustain their herds.

On top of this, the eastern production of hay—essential for winter feed—is being adversely af-

It Was a Great Party--Even if Cardinals Didn't Cooperate!

MT. STERLING, July 21 — (Special) — Ah, there's no joy in Mt. Sterling — mighty Pittsburgh has struck out.

Nine hundred and twenty-five shouting, rabid baseball fans from this Madison County town went en masse to Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday, to cheer the Mt. Sterling Pirates (formerly the Pittsburgh Pirates) on to a doubleheader victory.

And it didn't do a bit of good.

Keeping one eye on the pennant and no eyes on the fans, the St. Louis Cardinals beat them all. Unshaken by the 25 busloads of imported rooters, the Redbirds romped 7-3 in the first game, and held the long, long end of an 11-2 margin when the nightcap was called in the ninth.

And all despite the fact that Mt. Sterlingite John W. Galbreath, now a Columbus financier and Pirates boss, spent over $10,000 for the party.

THE STORY of Galbreath's goodness — and Mt. Sterling's largest picnic — began over 25 years ago when the middle-aged tycoon was still playing second base on the busy village's high school baseball squad.

One of his teammates was John W. Bricker, a bright boy with a bent for politics. Another was Fred Trimble, a hometown lad who thrives today as a furniture man.

Trimble and Galbreath became fast friends on the sandlot, and the bonds of brotherhood have held them together through the years.

But until three weeks ago, Galbreath thought Trimble was a Cincinnati Redlegs fan. At that time, answering a passing Galbreath remark Trimble said:

"Oh no! I'm for the Pirates through and through — the whole town's on their side!"

Galbreath brightened. An idea crossed his brow:

"They are? Do you suppose they'd like to see a game?"

THEY WOULD, and they did. With Galbreath picking up the tab, all his old neighbors from Mt. Sterling, Derby and points around joined the longest bus caravan in Southern Ohio records and gave their greatest for the Pittsburgh team.

Union church services started them off at 6 a.m. They didn't get home until after midnight.

Tired but appreciative, some said Galbreath gave them the greatest town party since John Bricker was inaugurated governor here 20 years ago.

And as for the Cardinals: the next time they pass Mt. Sterling, they'd better be in a plane.

100,000 London Busmen on Strike

LONDON (AP)—Some 100,000 busmen went on strike throughout Britain Saturday in a demand for equal pay with bus drivers.

The busmen, most of them members of the Transport and General Workers Union, asked a $2.80 a week pay rise to bring them up to the standard $31.50 paid to London bus drivers. London's bus system was not affected by the walkout.

Marietta Grand Jury To Study Murder Case

MARIETTA (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Leonard B. Ogle has recalled the April term of the grand jury for July 29 to consider charges against Benjamin C. Lightfritz, 52, and Woodrow W. Oliver, 39, in the fatal shooting of Earl Hill, 57, Hill, a filling station attendant.

Biggest Non-A-Blast Shatters Utah Cliff

LITTLE VALLEY, Utah (AP)—The biggest non-atomic explosion ever set off in the United States blasted about three million tons of rock from a cliff on the banks of the Great Salt Lake Sunday.

Farmer's Son, 13, Is Killed by Tractor

WARREN (AP)—Robert Reihard, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Reihard, was killed when he fell beneath the rear wheel of a tractor on his father's farm 12 miles north of here.

Heavy equipment today began a 6-months task of hauling away the rubble left by the explosion of 1,700,000 pounds of nitro-carbonate and dynamite.

Barges will haul the rock into the lake as the base for a 13-mile dirt fill to be built for the Southern Pacific Railroad. The fill will replace a wooden trestle on the railroad's cutoff across the northern end of the lake.

Boy Pounds Spike, Douses Cop Lights

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP)—Frank Pezzuto is nine and normal and therefore likes to try experiments. He had a spike and a rock Sunday. So what to do. He started pounding the spike with the rock on the wall in the rear of the police station.

Illinois Bank Robber Captured In Columbus

COLUMBUS (AP)—Jerry Winfred Rippey, 23, Charleston, S. C., accused of robbing the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. at Des Plaines, Ill., of $1,778 Friday, was arrested here Sunday.

The spike hit a "live" electric cable. There was an explosion and a puff of smoke. Frank held his blackened left hand as the lights went out in police headquarters and policemen came running.

FBI agents said the getaway car was traced here. A second suspect, identified as Charles Kern, 40, also of South Carolina, is still being sought, agents said.

They took Frank to the hospital for treatment of superficial burns. Twenty repairmen were called to fix the cable. All power in the station was out three hours.

It Was a Great Party--Even if Cardinals Didn't Cooperate!

MT. STERLING, July 21 — (Special) — Ah, there's no joy in Mt. Sterling — mighty Pittsburgh has struck out.

Nine hundred and twenty-five shouting, rabid baseball fans from this Madison County town went en masse to Pittsburgh, Pa., Sunday, to cheer the Mt. Sterling Pirates (formerly the Pittsburgh Pirates) on to a doubleheader victory.

And it didn't do a bit of good.

Keeping one eye on the pennant and no eyes on the fans, the St. Louis Cardinals beat them all. Unshaken by the 25 busloads of imported rooters, the Redbirds romped 7-3 in the first game, and held the long, long end of an 11-2 margin when the nightcap was called in the ninth.

And all despite the fact that Mt. Sterlingite John W. Galbreath, now a Columbus financier and Pirates boss, spent over $10,000 for the party.

THE STORY of Galbreath's goodness — and Mt. Sterling's largest picnic — began over 25 years ago when the middle-aged tycoon was still playing second base on the busy village's high school baseball squad.

One of his teammates was John W. Bricker, a bright boy with a bent for politics. Another was Fred Trimble, a hometown lad who thrives today as a furniture man.

Trimble and Galbreath became fast friends on the sandlot, and the bonds of brotherhood have held them together through the years.

But until three weeks ago, Galbreath thought Trimble was a Cincinnati Redlegs fan. At that time, answering a passing Galbreath remark Trimble said:

"Oh no! I'm for the Pirates through and through — the whole town's on their side!"

Galbreath brightened. An idea crossed his brow:

"They are: Do you suppose they'd like to see a game?"

NOW YOU SEE 'EM -- NOW YOU DON'T! — When 925 Mt. Sterling area residents (the village has a population of 1,200) left for a Pittsburgh Pirates baseball game at 6 a. m., Sunday, their departure created a notable change-of-pace in the village square. (Record-Herald photo)

Turnpike Collectors Seeking Improvements

CLEVELAND (AP) — A wage increase of $50 a month and improvements in working conditions are being sought by the toll collectors on the Ohio Turnpike.

Theatrical Action In Nearby Counties

Some theatrical ventures in this immediate region of Ohio have created comment and interest among friends of these neighborhoods, who live in nearby localities and also from greater distances.

Both the Wilmington and Antioch Colleges appear to have taken up the sponsoring of above ordinary theatrical efforts this summer. Both places deserve and are getting some complimentary publicity and other attention as a result.

It is pointed out that Wilmington College for the first time is introducing some professional talent to aid its summer program and Antioch is bringing to the force some contemporary musical drama on its stage out in the open.

Both places are attracting some attention and attendance from interested individuals and groups in Washington C. H. and other spots in Fayette County.

Those associated with the two theater undertakings have expressed deep interest in developing a broader appreciation for present-day theater throughout southwestern Ohio.

Wilmington College President Samuel Marble says that in widening the scope of their summertime presentations, adding works by European writers to what heretofore had been exclusively all-American programs, the Wilmington players hope to continue not only to the enjoyment of audiences in the vicinity but provide a first-hand acquaintanceship with several important plays as well.

At Antioch there seems to be an even stronger desire to cross new horizons in theatrical experience, by interrupting the internationally acclaimed Shakespearean cycle to promote what may become an independent lyric theater. The manager director indicates that one of the major contributions the United States has made to the world's cultural resources has been in the field of musical drama. He adds, however, that the market for this native form of art expression is still limited, and stresses that American composers might be encouraged to write more in this medium if more outlets for their talents were available. Such an outlet conceivably could be furnished by the Antioch company.

This manager offers the possibility that in the future the Yellow Springs stage might be used to introduce original American musical drama.

Sometimes this is the way in which theatrical history is made. Perhaps in no other section are summertime stage offerings so varied, ranging from Britten and Bernstein through Richardson-Berniey and Shaw to Shakespeare. And in no other section has theater assumed such stature in so short a time.

Being Bald--Matter of Thrift

NEW YORK (AP)—Bald men deserve no particular credit for going through life without splitting hairs. With them it's simply a matter of thrift.

Security is the feeling a man with a steady job gets after talking to someone who has retired on a pension.

The most you can do for a friend is the least you can do for yourself.

Those who walk only in another's footsteps run the risk of tumbling into another's grave.

If you can't build a bridge, build a footpath leading to one.

Many a man gets credit for having push when all he had was pull.

For every man who thirsts for a trickle of truth there are a thousand who seek the fountain of youth.

A man too small to laugh at himself usually also isn't big enough to feel sorry for anyone else.

Parole of David Greenglass

Apparently one must be an unrelenting communist to enjoy the benefit of a favorable decision. Those who served this party or the government it represents and broke with it, for one reason or another, and aided the FBI or the Department of Justice or a Congressional Committee are not even to be given a parole, despite the general tendency of parole boards to be easy on the wicked and to return them to society to do what comes naturally to them.

David Greenglass was the brother of Mrs. Julius Rosenberg who, with her husband, organized the theft of the atom bomb for Soviet Russia. Greenglass and Harry Gold aided the government in getting a conviction of the Rosenbergs who were no doubt important spies. Each was sentenced to fairly long terms. I have been informed that Greenglass was promised that if he testified truthfully he would only get five years. He got 15. I do not know who made the promise.

He has recently applied for a parole and was turned down. No reason has been given publicly as to why he was turned down. Were Greenglass a communist, there would be a committee to free Greenglass which would collect funds and hire expensive lawyers and make a great noise, but as he was a government witness he gets no such benefits and no such pressure is exerted in his favor.

Also, the way he is being treated must be a discouragement to others who may want to be government witnesses, as it is obvious that the government does not stand behind those who help it win cases against communists or spies.

Judge Robert Morris, chief counsel of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, who fights communists and spies professionally, spoke up to the U. S. board of parole in favor of David Greenglass. He said that the sentence of 15 years was unjust, that Greenglass cooperated with the FBI from the moment they first approached him.

The question then arises whether ences in the vicinity but provide a first-hand acquaintanceship with several important plays as well.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF—

A STAR CAME to New York between pictures with a wad of $5,000 burning a hole in his pocket. Problem: Should he buy a small piece of a pal's new musical revue, or get the little woman the mink coat for which she had been yearning? He compromised by buying into the show but promising his wife two coats if it proved to be a hit.

After the tryout, the star sent his wife this wire: "I've got bad news for you. Your coats closed in New Haven last night."

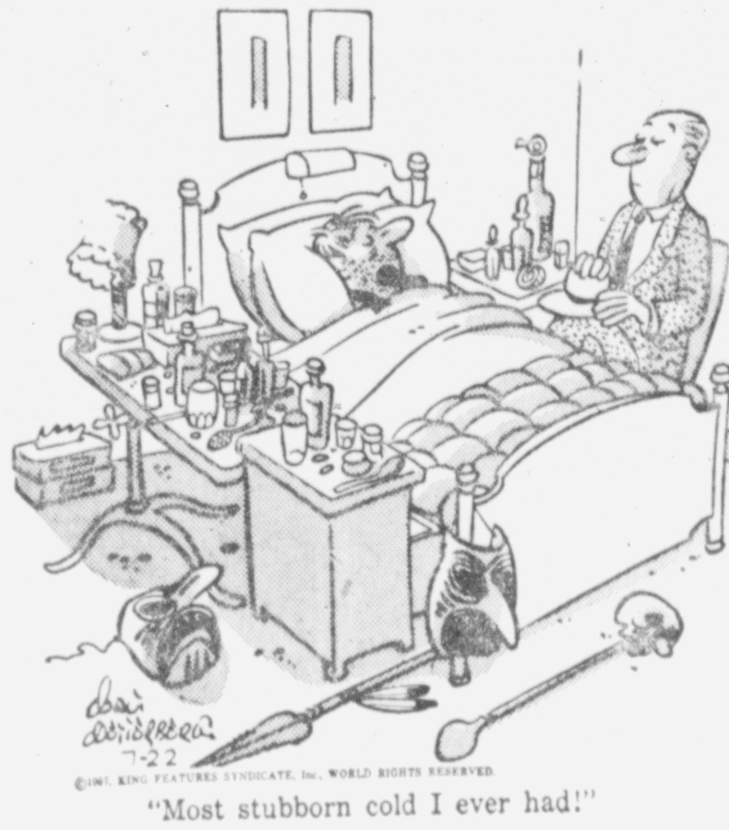

"What's your young brother wailing so dimly about?" demanded a father. The older son explained, "He's just crying because I'm eating my pie and won't give him any."

"Is his pie finished?" inquired Pa. "It is," said the boy, "and he wailed while I was eating that, too."

Las Vegas, insists Joe E. Lewis, is a community where hostesses on approaching planes caution, "Please fasten your money-belts."

"Most stubborn cold I ever had!"

Multiple Sclerosis Signs

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WE usually think of the two decades between the ages of 20 and 40 as about the healthiest time of life. Yet this is precisely the age group most menaced by the ravages of multiple sclerosis. Rarely does it affect children below the age of 10 and adults beyond the age of 50.

In Cold Climates

For some mysterious reason multiple sclerosis occurs six times as often in cold climates as it does in warm areas.

Simply explained, it is disintegration and subsequent scarring of areas of fatty, whitish tissue called myelin, which sheathe the nerves of the brain and spinal cord, and disintegration and scarring of the axis cylinders carrying the nerve fibers.

Causes Paralysis

These patches of scar tissue, along with the destruction of the nerve fibers, apparently block various nerve impulses from reaching the muscles which serve to activate the various parts of the body. In short, paralysis is the result.

Quite frankly, we admit that, of the thousands of treatments that have been tried, not one has as yet proved to be really effective. Still it is possible to "manage" the symptoms of the disorder to some extent and in some cases to retard relapses.

In about half of the cases, the course of the disease is interrupted by remission, sudden disappearance of the symptoms, or at least less severe symptoms. These remissions may last for weeks, months, even years.

We are pretty sure that both mental and physical strain can cause recurrence of symptoms.

Since it is so difficult to diagnose multiple sclerosis during the early stages, I think all of you should know the symptoms.

Usual Signs

These include a sudden blurring of vision, double vision or a tingling of the arm or leg. Rhythmic jerking of the eyeballs, tremor occurring with purposeful effort, slurring and staccato speech might also be present.

Of course, any of these symptoms do not necessarily mean you have multiple sclerosis—numbness and tingling of the hands and feet may be due to pernicious anemia—but they do mean you should see your doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q: Is it possible to cure hemorrhoids without surgery?

A: In certain cases of hemorrhoids, it is possible to get good results with injections.

this fight, when the Southerners say they want to amend and soften one section of the bill, they have already said their aim in the end is to destroy altogether.

They have been banging away at Section 4, which specifically applies to the protection of voting rights. This section says:

When an individual's voting rights are violated—say by a Southern registrar of voters who won't let a Negro register—the attorney general can step in and ask a federal judge for an order telling the registrar to stop.

If he disobeys then he can be brought into court, tried for contempt by the judge without a jury trial, and jailed. Southerners protest at the thought of anyone in such a situation being tried without a jury.

The Eisenhower administration and the bill's supporters in Congress argue for trial by judge, without a jury, in a case like that and for these reasons:

It's faster. It could stop a voting right violation while it was still happening instead of waiting until it was all finished. For example:

If a registrar disobeyed a judge's order he could be tried and jailed before the election, thus making it possible for the Negro to vote. If a jury trial was held, it might not take place until after the election.

These added reasons for trial by judge are given:

It's questionable—if a registrar reflects the attitude of his town's people in keeping a Negro away from the polls—that his neighbors on the jury would convict him.

Further, there are 28 laws on the books under which a judge by himself can try persons for contempt of his orders and, the reasoning goes, a judge ought to be able to back up his orders with action and punishment.

It's possible the Southerners—if they can't destroy the whole bill—will get Section 4 toned down by an amendment providing for trial by jury instead of by judge.

Does this mean a total loss for Negroes? Not if looked at realistically.

This is what would happen if the amended Section 4 still let the attorney general step in to get a court order even though disobedience wound up in a jury trial.

The disobedient individual would be called into court and presented with the complaints or evidence of his disobedience in the form of affidavits from those whose voting rights he had continued to violate.

These would at once become a matter of public record, as would the testimony at the subsequent jury trial.

To the extent that this disclosure had a psychological effect on a Southern community, by drawing national attention to its attitude and activities, the Negroes would stand to gain something. It might have a deterring effect.

It would at least be some gain. Any kind of civil rights legislation would. It would be the first time in this century any kind of civil right measure was passed by Congress. Hitherto Southerners have always blocked it.

But if Section 4 is amended to say the attorney general can't step in unless requested to do so by local officials, the whole thing becomes meaningless for the Negroes.

Local officials who wanted to keep them from the polls would hardly call in the government to stop themselves from doing it.

Parole of David Greenglass

He said that the sentence of 15 years was unjust; that Greenglass cooperated with the FBI from the moment they first approached him.

The question then arises whether er these various decisions are related to justice or to policy. I am not engaged in reading all the decisions handed down by the courts in cases involving communists and find a curious phenomenon, namely, that a sharp change took place in 1953 which was like a sharp knife cutting through a cheese. Apparently, prior to 1953 court followed one pattern; subsequent to 1953, courts followed another pattern. The line of demarcation is too noticeable to be meaningless and I am now trying to discover whether there was a reason for the shift of attitude. Also, after the 1956 election, no Congressional committee has been effective in any anti-communist activity, not even the experienced House Committee on un-American Activities.

I am not discussing the rightness or wrongness of the changed attitude but am reporting a state of mind, an attitude, a characteristic of an era. Senator Joe McCarthy was killed off by the Army-McCarthy hearings and eventually by the act of condemnation, which ultimately destroyed him as a person. Joe would be the last man in the world to want to be regarded as a martyr. As only his most intimate friends and perhaps objective psychologists can know, Joe was a modest man, perhaps not a little frightened by his success, notoriety or acclaim, as one wishes to state it. At his height, he was as important as the President of the United States; at his lowest, he was not even invited to a general and really insignificant White House affair.

The exaggeration of McCarthy's achievements and the vindictiveness after his defeat have had the effect of literally scaring many public figures, particularly Senators, into adopting an apathetic attitude not only to McCarthy's favorite subjects but to anything that may evoke White House displeasure. Thus, a Senator speaking privately against a measure which he sincerely opposed but which he publicly favored, made the point that opposition to the President offends and embarrasses the President very much, and that once the President has proclaimed his position in a speech or a press conference, a wide difference of opinion, however justified, becomes a personal matter with him and his staff. When asked, what about the separation of powers as stipulated in the Constitution, the Senator replied: "Someday someone will have the courage to break through. I am not that man."

Causes Paralysis

These patches of scar tissue, along with the destruction of the nerve fibers, apparently block various nerve impulses from reaching the muscles which serve to activate the various parts of the body. In short, paralysis is the result.

Quite frankly, we admit that, of the thousands of treatments that have been tried, not one has as yet proved to be really effective. Still it is possible to "manage" the symptoms of the disorder.

der to some extent and in some cases to retard relapses.

In about half of the cases, the course of the disease is interrupted by remission, sudden disappearance of the symptoms, or at least less severe symptoms. These remissions may last for weeks, months, even years.

We are pretty sure that both mental and physical strain can cause recurrence of symptoms.

Since it is so difficult to diagnose multiple sclerosis during the early stages, I think all of you should know the symptoms.

Usual Signs

These include a sudden blurring of vision, double vision or a tingling of the arm or leg. Rhythmic jerking of the eyeballs, tremor occurring with purposeful effort, slurring and staccato speech might also be present.

Of course, any of these symptoms do not necessarily mean you have multiple sclerosis—numbness and tingling of the hands and feet may be due to pernicious anemia—but they do mean you should see your doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

I. F.: Is it possible to cure hemorrhoids without surgery?

Answer: In certain cases of hemorrhoids, it is possible to get good results with injections.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It would be a bitter pill for them, but Negroes would still be ahead if President Eisenhower's civil rights bill wound up with nothing left but a watered-down bit to protect their voting rights.

Southern Democrats, shooting to kill all four sections of the bill, will fight it piece by piece. They may not succeed entirely. But they've already done it damage. It seems certain whatever is passed will be less than Eisenhower asked.

It must be remembered that in this fight, when the Southerners say they want to amend and soften one section of the bill, they have already said their aim in the end is to destroy altogether.

They have been banging away at Section 4, which specifically applies to the protection of voting rights. This section says:

When an individual's voting rights are violated—say by a Southern registrar of voters who won't let a Negro register—the attorney general can step in and ask a federal judge for an order telling the registrar to stop.

If he disobeys then he can be brought into court, tried for contempt by the judge without a jury trial, and jailed. Southerners protest at the thought of anyone in such a situation being tried without a jury.

The Eisenhower administration and the bill's supporters in Congress argue for trial by judge, without a jury, in a case like that and for these reasons:

It's faster. It could stop a voting right violation while it was still happening instead of waiting until it was all finished. For example:

If a registrar disobeyed a judge's order he could be tried and jailed before the election, thus making it possible for the Negro to vote. If a jury trial was held, it might not take place until after the election.

These added reasons for trial by judge are given:

It's questionable—if a registrar reflects the attitude of his town's people in keeping a Negro away from the polls—that his neighbors on the jury would convict him.

Further, there are 28 laws on the books under which a judge by himself can try persons for contempt of his orders and, the reasoning goes, a judge ought to be able to back up his orders with action and punishment.

It's possible: the Southerners—if they can't destroy the whole bill—will get Section 4 toned down by an amendment providing for trial by jury instead of by judge.

Does this mean a total loss for Negroes? Not if looked at realistically.

This is what would happen if the amended Section 4 still let the attorney general step in to get a court order even though disobedience wound up in a jury trial.

The disobedient individual would be called into court and presented with the complaints or evidence of his disobedience in the form of affidavits from those whose voting rights he had continued to violate.

These would at once become a matter of public record, as would the testimony at the subsequent jury trial.

To the extent that this disclosure had a psychological effect on a Southern community, by drawing national attention to its attitude and activities, the Negroes would stand to gain something. It might have a deterring effect.

It would at least be some gain. Any kind of civil rights legislation would. It would be the first time in this century any kind of civil right measure was passed by Congress. Hitherto Southerners have always blocked it.

But if Section 4 is amended to say the "attorney general" can't step in unless requested to do so by local officials, the whole thing becomes meaningless for the Negroes.

Local officials who wanted to keep them from the polls would hardly call in the government to stop themselves from doing it.

A STAR CAME to New York between pictures with a wad of $5,000 burning a hole in his pocket. Problem: Should he buy a small piece of a pal's new musical revue, or get the little woman the mink coat for which she had been yearning? He compromised by buying into the show but promising his wife two coats if it proved to be a hit.

After the tryout, the star sent his wife this wire: "I've got bad news for you. Your coats closed in New Haven last night."

"What's your young brother wailing so dimly about?" demanded a father. The older son explained, "He's just crying because I'm eating my pie and won't give him any."

Ohio's Bonded Debt Total Keeps Increasing Steadily

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Constitution, written before the vogue of "buy now, pay later," sets a $750,000 limit on state debts.

But the Constitution also allows Ohioans, who have become installment-purchase-minded, to vote for bond issues putting them far deeper in hock.

Voters virtually threw away the lid in recent years to pay veterans' bonuses and get the state's greatest highway and institutional building program under way. They approved the borrowing to get results much faster than possible on the old pay-as-you-go basis.

Figures from State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy's office show that state bond obligations soon will exceed $100 for each of Ohio's more than nine million residents. And the cost of state borrowing will increase, officials said, as a result of newly boosted interest rates on federal securities that set the national pattern.

Interest payments alone on bonds issued by the state will exceed 173 million dollars. The payments go to insurance firms and other private interests lending the money for capital improvements through purchase of the tax-free bonds.

Ohio's bonded-debt picture is shaping up like this:

Major highway construction bonds of 500 million dollars will pay out a total of 122 millions in interest to bond holders for a total of 622 millions.

The 150-million-dollar issue for schools and institutions will cost 29 millions in interest and the 60-million-dollar Korean conflict bonus will cost 76 millions, including interest.

About 93 million dollars still must be paid on the World War II bonus, plus 6 millions in interest for a total of 99 millions.

All this means Ohio is bonded for 803 millions and must pay another 173 millions in interest for a total of 967 million dollars.

Not all of the highway and institutional construction bonds have been issued. That is expected by 1959. The last bonds will fall due in 1972. All but 93 million dollars worth of the 212½ million dollar issue of World War II bonus bonds have been retired.

Recent admirals have made much of holding the line against new or increased taxes. But extra levies were imposed to pay off the bond loans.

An additional tax was levied on all real estate in Ohio to pay off the bonus bonds. And a million dollars a month comes out of the state's general revenue fund to help retire World War II bonus bonds.

An extra penny a gallon tax on gasoline and an axle-mile tax on trucks were imposed to assure retirement of the bonds to help finance a whopping 2½ billion dollar highway building program in the next four years. Federal aid and other revenues swelled total available funds.

An additional penny a pack tax on cigarettes will pay off bonds for the construction of new schools, state hospitals, prisons and other capital improvements.

Total debt service on highway bonds to date approximates 18½ million dollars. Stat fiscal experts expect the cost of future bond issues to exceed present estimates if interest rates continue to mount.

Original estimates for debt service through 1972 ran about 590½ millions. They were boosted to 622 millions when it became apparent that Ohio might have to pay about 3½ per cent interest on its next bond issue. Officials now figure those estimates will have to be raised still more in the wake of a new advance in federal interest rates.

New Pressure Is Building for Interest Hike

U. S. Treasury's Bow To Costly Money Seen As Bank Justification

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The treasury's bow to costly money is building up new pressure today for another general rise in interest rates.

The money managers credit high interest rates and tight money with holding the business boom and its travelling companion, inflation, to a crawl.

Would-be borrowers on the other hand, charge that tight credit and costly charges are causing a personalized recession for them. In some cases, they say, it is keeping them from expanding their plants or building needed schools.

Bankers who have been wanting to raise their loan charges to merchants, manufacturers and farmers see the treasury's recognition of a high going rate for money as justification.

Those who have been expecting the federal reserve banks to hike again the discount rate they charge when lending to member banks are now asking if this won't be done after the treasury clears its 24 billion dollar financing deal in the next few weeks.

The treasury is offering 4 per cent interest — twice what it did two summers ago, and the highest it has paid since 1933 ushered in the era of cheap money.

That is because the treasury is anxious for the holders of the 24

Londoners Decry Engagement Talk

LONDON (AP)—London newspapers report somewhat haughtily that rumors had been circulated abroad that Princess Margaret might marry Lord Patrick Beresford. They dashed chill waters on the accounts.

Lord Beresford, 23, and three years Margaret's junior, flew into London from Dublin. Before leaving the Irish city, he said:

"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor I'm going to London for the announcement of my engagement to Princess Margaret."

billion dollars of maturing securities to exchange them for the new offerings. Apparently it fears that if it offers any less than 4 per cent many of the present holders will ask for cash instead — they could use that cash for investments paying higher returns.

This would force the treasury to go into the market again to seek "new money," and embarrassment it would rather avoid.

The government bond market has a big influence on all interest rates. And the new high price the treasury is paying is widely expected to give the nudge to the long discussed rise in the banks' prime rate.

This is the charge that the banks' best risks pay. It is now 4 per cent. Borrowers below this top credit rating — and most small businessmen are — pay higher interest.

People . . . Places . . . and Things Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY
I have heard a number of persons talking about mysterious geophysical tests made by some unknown oil company (from Oklahoma) in 1947 and 1948, throughout a large part of Fayette County.

These tests were made by rotary drill outfits, and it is presumed that charges of dynamite were detonated in the holes and the results recorded by instruments set up over a half mile radius. No one gave out any information about the tests.

It seems that these tests were more numerous in the southern part of the county than anywhere else in the county, although it is known that the tests were made at many points in widely separated sections of the county.

Now it is believed that Kewanee Oil Co. was back of the tests being made 10 years ago and that the extensive leasing of land in this part of Ohio was largely the result of the geophysical tests made 10 years ago.

Incidentally, various persons in widely scattered parts of the county have told me that they have been approached by representatives of several oil companies recently (not Kewanee) with a view to leasing their farm lands. Some of them say they have leased their land on different terms.

Drilling in this area apparently has increased interest of other oil companies in the possibility of striking it rich and they do not want to be left out in the cold.

OLD TILE MILL RECALLED

Some of the older residents of the Buena Vista community, recall the former Thompson tile mill and later the Garrison Smith tile mill, which was located on the east side of the Stafford Rd., a mile south of Buena Vista, in front of Mrs. Enola Shonkwer's present residence.

The mill was established by the father of Cal Thompson, probably more than 100 years ago and it furnished tile throughout the area for many years.

I saw some of the tile which Chester Zimmerman is saving. They are slightly more than four inches in diameter inside, with a flat bottom so they could be laid readily and remain where placed.

Later it was found this type of tile was unnecessary, as the trench could be rounded in the bottom and the round tile laid just as true and would remain in position.

All such tile (with flat bottom) were made around 100 years ago, as far as I have been able to ascertain.

Apparently, a large part of Concord Township and consider a big area in other parts of southern Fayette, northern Highland, and southeastern Clinton Counties were drained by tile from the Thompson and Garrison Smith mill.

No trace of the old mill now remains, for it was abandoned fully 75 years ago and finally torn away and farmed over.

Clay for the tile apparently was hauled from a tract west of Stafford Rd.

WELCOME DRILLING

Most of the folks I have talked with in a radius of several miles of Buena Vista are delighted to know the next test well of Kewanee Oil Co. will be in that area, on Mrs. Edgar Wilson's farm on Miami Trace Rd., some three miles north of Buena Vista.

"Why didn't they drill the first well in this territory, for if there is anywhere in Fayette County oil and gas will be found it is in the southern part?", declared one may, who did not augment this statement with facts.

In 1903 two wells were drilled for oil in that vicinity and both showed traces of oil around 1,750 feet, or at about the same depth oil was found in wells drilled in Washington C. H. about the same time.

One of the wells drilled 54 years

Company M lost 20 men when Army officials gave them physical tests. Plans were being made to train at least a million men as soon as possible and rush them to France.

Homemade Rocket Slated for Testing

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Two 17-year-old Tulsa boys have climaxed a dream that started in 1954 by sending a homemade 12-foot rocket to the White Sands, N. M. proving grounds for federal inspection and possible testing.

The project was started three years ago by Bradley Glover, who said he spent about 250 hours on research on rockets, motors, fuels and aerodynamics before putting his ideas on paper. In March, 1956, Clifford Ramsey joined him in the actual construction.

Glover estimated they spent $1,000 and 1,600 man-hours of labor in building the 12-foot long rocket, which is 11 inches in diameter and weighs 102 pounds.

This well was located near the creek, some 20 or 30 feet from the highway. It has been flowing a steady stream of water since it was plugged soon after it was drilled.

The second well was about a mile northwest of Buena Vista, on the Albert Haines farm, also not far from Rattlesnake Creek.

This well also showed traces of oil and gas and it, like the other well, was abandoned without being shot, so far as it is known, and plugged. It also showed a steady flow of water after being plugged.

Now, at a depth less than 4,000 feet, it is hoped to strike oil and gas in paying quantities.

New Pressure Is Building for Interest Hike

U. S. Treasury's Bow To Costly Money Seen As Bank Justification

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The treasury's bow to costly money is building up new pressure today for another general rise in interest rates.

The money managers credit high interest rates and tight money with holding the business boom and its travelling companion, inflation, to a crawl.

Would-be borrowers, on the other hand, charge that tight credit and costly charges are causing a personalized recession for them. In some cases, they say, it is keeping them from expanding their plants or building needed schools.

Bankers who have been wanting to raise their loan charges to merchants, manufacturers and farmers see the treasury's recognition of a high going rate for money as justification.

Those who have been expecting the federal reserve banks to hike again the discount rate they charge when lending to member banks are now asking if this won't be done after the treasury clears its 24 billion dollar financing deal in the next few weeks.

The treasury is offering 4 per cent interest — twice what it did two summers ago, and the highest it has paid since 1933 ushered in the era of cheap money.

That is because the treasury is anxious for the holders of the 24

Londoners Decry Engagement Talk

LONDON (AP)—London newspapers report somewhat haughtily that rumors had been circulated abroad that Princess Margaret might marry Lord Patrick Beresford. They dashed chill waters on the accounts.

Lord Beresford, 23, and three years Margaret's junior, flew into London from Dublin. Before leaving the Irish city, he said:

"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor I'm going to London for the announcement of my engagement to Princess Margaret."

billions of dollars of maturing securities to exchange them for the new offerings. Apparently it fears that if it offers any less than 4 per cent many of the present holders will ask for cash instead — they could use that cash for investments paying higher returns.

This would force the treasury to go into the market again to seek "new money" and embarrassment it would rather avoid.

The government bond market has a big influence on all interest rates. And the new high price the treasury is paying is widely expected to give the nudge to the long discussed rise in the banks' prime rate.

This is the charge that the banks' best risks pay. It is now 4 per cent. Borrowers below this top credit rating — and most small businessmen are — pay higher interest.

Michigan established the first state agricultural college in the United States in 1837.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We'd like your opinion of mother. Both my sister and I think she should see a good psychiatrist, but maybe we're just selfish.

Mother and dad are in their early fifties, healthy and full of pep. Three years ago when their last child married, they sold their big house in the suburbs and took a four-room apartment in the city, just big enough for the two of them, as mother says. Always before we'd flocked to them on holidays and in the summers.

Now mother refuses to baby-sit for any of us, except in emergency. (There are four married children and eight grandchildren). She says we can afford to hire baby sitters and she's right—as we are well fixed financially.

Mother and dad visit us about twice a year and at Christmas we all get together too; and of course we talk to her by phone several times a week. But she is always too busy gadding around for us to visit her; and we feel that grandparents should see more of the children.

Mother goes to concerts, hockey games, boxing matches, etc. She skates, swims, plays tennis and can outwalk anyone I know. She dresses very smartly, weighs around 115 pounds and looks about 35; still I think she should slow down and act her age.

Three or four times a year she and dad go off to fish and hunt at a nearby lake where they own a lodge. Dad leaves his business in charge of my brother, who handles it well enough. Don't you think they are selfish parents? They've simply broken away from us children.

When we try to talk to mother about her age and responsibilities, she just laughs and says "Whistler's mother is for the birds—" and when she gets real old she will learn to sit and knit. We think she's childish and ready for the man in the white coat. What do you think?

G. C.
DEAR G.C.: Some people will approve of your parents' course, I suppose, while others will disapprove. In my opinion, their blithe new bias seems a bit on the immature side, as if they were trying to go back and pick up their youth, where they left it off (they think), in becoming parents.

It seems to me that they are acting out a misconception of the function of parenthood, as if they assumed the job is finished when the children are grown and married and launched financially. As if they feel that children then should be "hushed off" the parental relationship—as a branch from a vine—and thereafter regarded as distinctly separate entities, not integral parts of the parents' lives unto the very end.

Parents shouldn't be slaves to grown children and their household, of course. They shouldn't tolerate, much less encourage, such exploitation. Nor should they themselves hang on to the children, making uselessness to the young their insistent social motif. Either extreme is unhealthy.

But there is a solid middle ground—namely, profound friendship, mutually cherished—that rightly disposed parents and children will arrive at, when the time comes to work out a new adjustment, as between grown-ups. And your parents aren't leading the way in this, nor giving you the proper cues.

It occurs to me that back of their busy front nowadays, they are secretly heartsick and afraid—maybe unconsciously so. Heartsick because the children have migrated into new attachments; and frightened that their home life—if they'd permit themselves to take a look—has become unbearably empty, with only a downhill road ahead.

Possibly they are figuratively casting you off, to try to "beat" the pain of finding themselves left behind. Or maybe they've felt obliged to take refuge in a small apartment and a packed schedule, to wean their married progeny from childish habits—in using mom and dad as faithful retainers in the big house, where you all flocked back for holidays.

In any case, your allusions to your mother lack reverence, loyally and recognition of her rights as a person. So perhaps your own attitude is part of the problem. Therefore, why don't YOU get psychiatric help—in outgrowth

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We'd like your opinion of mother. Both my sister and I think she should see a good psychiatrist, but maybe we're just selfish.

Mother and dad are in their early fifties, healthy and full of pep. Three years ago when their last child married, they sold their big house in the suburbs and took a four-room apartment in the city, just big enough for the two of them, as mother says. Always before we'd flocked to them on holidays and in the summers.

Now mother refuses to baby-sit for any of us, except in emergency. (There are four married children and eight grandchildren). She says we can afford to hire baby sitters and she's right—as we are well fixed financially.

Mother and dad visit us about twice a year and at Christmas we all get together too; and of course we talk to her by phone several times a week. But she is always too busy gadding around for us to visit her; and we feel that grandparents should see more of the children.

Mother goes to concerts, hockey games, boxing matches, etc. She skates, swims, plays tennis and can outwalk anyone I know. She dresses very smartly, weighs around 115 pounds and looks about 35; still I think she should slow down and act her age.

Three or four times a year she and dad go off to fish and hunt at a nearby lake where they own a lodge. Dad leaves his business in charge of my brother, who handles it well enough. Don't you think they are selfish parents? They've simply broken away from us children.

When we try to talk to mother about her age and responsibilities, she just laughs and says "Whistler's mother is for the birds..." and when she gets real old she will learn to sit and knit. We think she's childish and ready for the man in the white coat. What do you think?

DEAR G.C.: Some people will approve of your parents' course, I suppose, while others will disapprove. In my opinion, their blithe new bias seems a bit on the immature side, as if they were trying to go back and pick up their youth, where they left it off (they think), in becoming parents.

It seems to me that they are acting out a misconception of the function of parenthood, as if they assumed the job is finished when the children are grown and married and launched financially. As if they feel that children then should be brushed off the parental relationship—as a branch from a vine—and thereafter regarded as distinctly separate entities, not in integral parts of the parents' lives unto the very end.

Parents shouldn't be slaves to grown children and their households, of course. They shouldn't tolerate, much less encourage, such exploitation. Nor should they themselves hang on to the children, making usefulness to the young their insistent social motif. Either extreme is unhealthy.

But there is a solid middle ground—namely, profound friendship, mutually cherished—that rightly disposed parents and children will arrive at, when the time comes to work out a new adjustment, as between grown-ups. And your parents aren't leading the way in this, nor giving you the proper cues.

It occurs to me that back of their busy front nowadays, they are secretly heartick and afraid—maybe unconsciously so. Heartick because the children have migrated into new attachments; and frightened that their home life—if they'd permit themselves to take a look—has become unbearably empty, with only a downhill road ahead.

Possibly they are figuratively casting you off, to try to "beat" the pain of finding themselves left behind. Or maybe they've felt obliged to take refuge in a small apartment and a packed schedule, to wean their married progeny from childish habits—in using mom and dad as faithful retainers in the big house, where you all flocked back for holidays.

In any case, your allusions to your mother lack reverence, lovingness and-or recognition of her rights as a person. So perhaps your own attitude is part of the problem. Therefore, why don't YOU get psychiatric help—in outgrow

Crowe, Lawrence Looming Big for Sizzling Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe, has the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four National League contenders. They said Lawrence, acquired by the Reds in a trade with St. Louis the winter before last, was lucky last year when he won 19 games. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow and too weak with the stick.

Country Club Golf Tourney Fields Dwindle

Slowly but surely the big fields that started out in the annual handicap golf tournaments at the Country Club are being whittled down through the normal processes of eliminations.

The men's tournament, which started a couple of weeks before that for the women, is now approaching the end. In last week's matches, Jim Grinstead beat Bud Dawson 2 up; Chuck Cummings beat John Ellessor 3 and 2; Bill Barrett beat Dr. O. W. House 3 and 2; Baldwin Rice beat Dewey Sheidler and Dr. Charles Piersick beat Dr. Fred Woodard 1 up.

Some new was added to the tournament last week when two matches ended in a deadlock which will have to be played off later. When time ran out, Dale Dawson and Ervin Reeves were still tied at the end of 36-holes and, in the other stalemate, Talmadge Taylor and Carl Mason were tied at the end of the regulation 18 holes. The heat also was a factor in carrying over the ties for settlement later.

In the women's tournament, Mrs. Willard McLean beat Mrs. James Martin 7 and 6; Mrs. Mary Gillespie beat Mrs. Ed Vollette 5 and 4; Mrs. Dwight Coffman beat Mrs. Marvin Roszmann 1 up; Mrs. Robert Hagerty beat Mrs. Roger Littleton 1 up; Mrs. Bud Schlue beat Mrs. Richard Willis 5 and 3; Miss Kristin Himmelspach beat Mrs. Ralph Bray 3 and 2; Mrs. William Wead beat Mrs. William Junk 3 and 2; Mrs. Wayne Shobe beat Mrs. Ronnie Cornwell 3 and 2; Mrs. J. O. Garringer beat Miss Kathleen Davis 3 and 2; Mrs. Charles Griffiths beat Mrs. J. E. S. Carter 3 and 2; Mrs. Carl Mason beat Mrs. Omar Schwartz 7 and 5; Mrs. Howard Harper beat Mrs. Frank Dawson 2 and 1; Mrs. Hugh Zimmerman beat Mrs. C. G. Hayes 4 and 3 and Mrs. Byers Shaw beat Mrs. Ray French 3 and 2.

Kernels Beat Cubs In Little League

The Kernels kept right in the thick of the Little League scramble when they swamped the Cubs, 18 to 4, at Wilson Field Saturday night.

It was the third win of the second round for the Kernels and the third defeat in four games for the Cubs. The Kernels now have an overall record of 8 wins and 6 defeats. The Cubs have now won 6 so far this season and lost 7 games.

The Kernels put Saturday's game on ice when they tallied 7 times in the first frame. Although they got only 10 hits, they combined them with 6 Cub errors and bases on balls to produce 18 runs.

Athletics Lose At Zanesville

Last-Inning Spree Upsets WCH Team

A three-run spurge in the bottom of the seventh gave the plucky Zanesville nine a 7 to 6 win over Washington C. H. Athletics, Sunday in the Heart of Ohio League. The loss left the A's in fourth or fifth place — depending on the results of an unreported Chillicothe-Lancaster game Sunday.

Five pitchers saw action in the hard-fought contest at Zanesville. The home team got 12 hits and the visitors 10 — a grand total of 22 in the 8½ inning game. Zanesville's winning drive came on a spare three hits just as the Athletics were ready to walk away with the victory. A double, a fielder's choice and two singles brought down the visitors.

Meanwhile, Grove City tightened its hold on first place, winning a forfeit from helpless last-place Lockbourne when the latter showed up with only seven men. The win enabled Grove City to clinch a berth in the playoffs.

Reynoldsburg broke a five-game losing streak by defeating Columbus, 11-5, pushing Reynoldsburg into sixth and Columbus into seventh.

Young Lionel Hebert Cops PGA Crown

DAYTON (AP)—Lionel Hebert, a chunky, keen-eyed product of Louisiana's Evangeline land, emerged from under his brother's protective wings during the 39th PGA championship and now stands by himself as a golfer of first magnitude. Up to a few days ago, Lionel was best known as the younger brother of Jay Hebert, one of the leading golf pros. He was pretty well satisfied and complained only because Jay didn't have the killer instinct to win more often.

Then, in a dramatic finale, the kid brother came through with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dow Finsterwald, the young moneybags of the golf tour, and and tables were turned.

Jay never has won a national title; Lionel has. Lionel is almost certain of the place on the Ryder Cup team, which will play Britain's top pros in October; Jay probably won't make it.

From 49th place on the PGA money winning list, Lionel moved up to 15th. His $8,000 first prize gave him a year's total of $10,908. Jay, earning only $1,500 for seventh place, still is seventh, about $4,000 ahead.

The younger Hebert, a surprise finalist in a tournament where such stars as Sam Snead, Jackie Burke, Doug Ford, Gene Littler and Ed Furgol couldn't even make the quarter-finals, came out boldly at the finish to win on the Miami Valley golf course.

Althea Gibson Wins Clay Courts Crown CHICAGO (AP)—Wimbledon Champion Althea Gibson finally won the tennis championship "I've been chasing since '51" when she breezed past Darlene Hard, 6-2, 6-3, in the National Clay Courts tournament Sunday.

Miss Gibson's triumph came as no surprise and was by the exact score by which she defeated Miss Hard in the Wimbledon finals.

Vic Seixas rallied in the men's finals to defeat defending champion Herb Flam, 1-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3.

One Babe Ruth All-Star Team From Here Still in Tourney

The two Babe Ruth All-Star teams representing Fayette County in the Babe Ruth tournament at Phillipsburg split games there when the Nationals won and the Americans lost.

The National division All-Stars cracked out 13 hits in rubbing the Americans from Fairbourne, 10-5, while in the second game under the lights the other Fayette County entry, the Americans, lost a 3-1 heartbreaker to Phillipsburg.

Terry Stillings hurled for the Nationals, scattering nine hits and walking two.

Mike Lawrence led the National attack with 4 for 4 while team mates Bob Huff and Jack Cartwright had three hits apiece. Lawrence, Huff and Cartwright also had three RBI's apiece. Doubles were hit by Lawrence. Bud Lynch and Huff.

The Nationals scored in every inning with four big tallies coming in the third frame.

Leading Fairbourne's nine hit invasion was third baseman Henley who hit safely four times, two of which were doubles.

The National Division will get back into tournament action Friday at 6 p. m. when they meet Hamilton, Westside at Phillipsburg.

Although Jim Cook twirled a two-hitter, the Americans could not score more than once and were beaten by Phillipsburg.

Corky Wilt had two for four while heading the American division hitters. Gil Crouse, Butch Rieber, John Campbell and Cook got one safety each.

Cook, declared by home team officials as the best pitcher ever to walk on the Phillipsburg diamond, met his downfall in the second inning. He had two strikes on the lead-off batter when he plunked him in the ribs. The same situation arose when Cook hit the next batter, moving the leadoff hitter to second with no outs.

But the righthander then apparently settled down by whiffing the third batter, Booker, fourth Phillipsburg batter in the inning then received the first of Cook's three free passes for the game.

With the bases loaded and one out Cook then whiffed the next batter. Bases still loaded, two down. The leftfielder then walked, forcing in the tying run from third. The ace hurler, in an attempt to beat down to the next batter, then cut loose a wild pitch, scoring the second run of the inning.

The catcher, Bush, retrieved the ball and in an attempt to cut down the runner at the plate with the pitcher covering, threw the ball away.

The third man in the inning tallied on the frustrated catcher's miscue and the fourth was cut.

Washington C. H. Boys Lose At Reformatory

Thanks to the Bloomingburg outfit, which beat the Blanchester boys, 15 to 5, on the field at Jeffersonville Sunday, the Ross & Saterfield team of Washington C. H. kept out of the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League cellars.

For, the R & S crew took a 20 to 6 trouncing at the Reformatory in Chillicothe at the same time.

The outcome of these two games left Blanchester last in the standing and Washington C. H. next to last. Blanchester has yet to win its first game and the R & S crew has won only one.

The Washington C. H. boys were doing all right at the Reformatory to the halfway point in the game, but after that things happened to them. They were trailing 11 to 6 after seven innings when the Reformatory lowered the boom with a 9-run in the eighth, and last, inning. Time ran out then, and the R & S boys joined their opponents in the Reformatory dining hall for supper.

In other games around the SCOSunday, Milledgeville, Fayette County's third team in the loop, won a forfeit from the Chillicothe Businessmen when they could get only eight players on the Milledgeville field, and the Columbus All-Stars continued their unbeaten run with a 9 to 6 victory at Greenfield.

125 Youthful Golfers Set For JC Test

CINCINNATI (AP)—A field of 125 youthful golfers from 55 Ohio cities and to vns will compete here Tuesday in the 10th annual State Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament.

From that field will come Ohio's four qualifiers for the National Jaycee Tournament to be at Ohio State University's course in Columbus Aug. 19-24.

(There will be no entries from Washington C. H. in the tournament. The Jaycees here considered participating in this "very good project." Dr. Lawrence Burris, president, said, but eventually passed it by this year.)

Heading the field will be Columbus' Jack Nicklaus, who is passing up defense of his state open championship to compete in the Jaycee event. Nicklaus was runnerup for the national Jaycee title last year.

Last summer he surprised the state's pros by becoming the third amateur ever to win the state open title.

The tournament is limited to youngsters under 18 or who will reach their 18th birthday before Aug. 15.

There will be an 18-hole preliminary round today with the full 36 holes of the tournament itself scheduled for Tuesday over the Sharon Woods' public course which measures 6,453 yards with a par of 35—36-71.

The number of contestants from each city was based on the number of entrants in their local qualifying tournaments. The field will be the biggest in the history of the state tournament.

CLEVELAND (AP)—There will be at least 12 new faces on the Cleveland Browns' quad when the training season gets underway at Hiram College this week.

The team, limited to 35 players by a new National Football League rule, reports for training Thursday but no field work is scheduled until next Monday.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, the only player left from the original 1946 Browns, will be back at tackle.

"I see no reason why Lou shouldn't have a couple more seasons at tackle for us," said Coach Paul E. Brown.

Crowe, Lawrence Looming Big for Sizzling Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe, has the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four National League contenders. They said Lawrence, acquired by the Reds in a trade with St. Louis the winter before last, was lucky last year when he won 19 games. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow and too weak with the stick.

Country Club Golf Tourney Fields Dwindle

Slowly but surely the big fields that started out in the annual handicap golf tournaments at the Country Club are being whittled down through the normal processes of eliminations.

The men's tournament, which started a couple of weeks before that for the women, is now approaching the end. In last week's matches, Jim Grinstead beat Bud Dawson 2 up; Chuck Cummins beat John Ellessor 3 and 2; Bill Barrett beat Dr. O. W. House 3 and 2; Baldwin Rice beat Dewey Sheidler and Dr. Charles Pfersich beat Dr. Fred Woodard 1 up.

Some new was added to the tournament last week when two matches ended in a deadlock which will have to be played off later. When time ran out, Dale Dawson and Ervin Reeves were still tied at the end of 36 holes and, in the other stalemate, Talmadge Taylor and Carl Mason were tied at the end of the regulation 18 holes. The heat also was a factor in carrying over the ties for settlement later.

In the women's tournament, Mrs. Willard McLean beat Mrs. James Martin 7 and 6; Mrs. Mary Gillespie beat Mrs. Ed Vollette 5 and 4; Mrs. Dwight Coffman beat Mrs. Marvin Rossmann 1 up; Mrs. Robert Hagerty beat Mrs. Roger Littleton 1 up; Mrs. Bud Schlue beat Mrs. Richard Willis 5 and 3; Miss Kristen Himmelspach beat Mrs. Ralph Bray 3 and 2; Mrs. William Wead beat Mrs. William Junk 3 and 2; Mrs. Wayne Shobe beat Mrs. Ronnie Cornwell 3 and 2; Mrs. J. O. Garringer beat Miss Kathleen Davis 3 and 2; Mrs. Charles Griffiths beat Mrs. Jess Carter 3 and 2; Mrs. Carl Mason beat Mrs. Omar Schwartz 7 and 5; Mrs. Howard Harper beat Mrs. Frank Dawson 2 and 1; Mrs. Hugh Zimmerman beat Mrs. C. G. Hayes 4 and 3 and Mrs. Byers Shaw beat Mrs. Ray French 3 and 2.

Kernels Beat Cubs In Little League

The Kernels kept right in the thick of the Little League scramble when they swamped the Cubs, 18 to 4, at Wilson Field Saturday night.

It was the third win of the second round for the Kernels and the third defeat in four games for the Cubs. The Kernels now have an overall record of 8 wins and 6 defeats. The Cubs have now won 6 so far this season and lost 7 games.

The Kernels put Saturday's game on ice when they tallied 7 times in the first frame. Although they got only 10 hits, they combined them with 6 Cub errors and bases on balls to produce 18 runs.

Athletics Lose At Zanesville

A three-run spurge in the bottom of the seventh gave the plucky Zanesville nine a 7 to 6 win over Washington C. H. Athletics, Sunday in the Heart of Ohio League. The loss left the A's in fourth or fifth place — depending on the results of an unreported Chillicothe-Lancaster game Sunday.

Five pitchers saw action in the hard-fought contest at Zanesville. The home team got 12 hits and the visitors 10 — a grand total of 22 in the eight innings game.

Zanesville's winning drive came on a spare three hits just as the Athletics were ready to walk away with the victory. A double, a fielder's choice and two singles brought down the visitors.

Meanwhile, Grove City tightened its hold on first place, winning a forfeit over the hapless last-place Lockbourne when the latter showed up with only seven men. The win enabled Grove City to clinch a berth in the playoffs.

Reynoldsburg broke a five-game losing streak by defeating Columbus, 11-5, pushing Reynoldsburg into sixth and Columbus into seventh.

Young Lionel Hebert Cops PGA Crown

DAYTON (AP)—Lionel Hebert, a chunky, keen-eyed product of Louisiana's Evangeline land, emerged from under his brother's protective wings during the 39th PGA championship and now stands by himself as a golfer of first magnitude.

Up to a few days ago, Lionel was best known as the younger brother of Jay Hebert, one of the leading golf pros. He was pretty well satisfied and complained only because Jay didn't have the killer instinct to win more often.

Then, in a dramatic finale, the kid brother came through with a 2 and 1 triumph over Dow Finsterwald, the young moneybags of the golf tour, and a tables were turned.

Jay never has won a national title; Lionel has. Lionel is almost certain of the place on the Ryder Cup team, which will play Britain's top pros in October; Jay probably won't make it.

From 49th place on the PGA money winning list, Lionel moved up to 15th. His $8,000 first prize gave him a year's total of $10,868. Jay, earning only $1,500 for seventh place, still is seventh, about $4,000 ahead.

The younger Hebert, a surprise finalist in a tournament where such stars as Sam Snead, Jackie Burke, Doug Ford, Gene Littler and Ed Furgol couldn't even make the quarter-finals, came out boldly at the finish to win on the Miami Valley golf course.

Althea Gibson Wins Clay Courts Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—Wimbledon Champion Althea Gibson finally won the tennis championship "I've been chasing since '51" when she breezed past Darlene Hard, 6-2, 6-3, in the National Clay Courts tournament Sunday.

Miss Gibson's triumph came as no surprise and was by the exact score by which she defeated Miss Hard in the Wimbledon finals.

Vic Seixas rallied in the men's finals to defeat defending champion Herb Flam, 1-6, 8-6, 6-1, 6-3.

One Babe Ruth All-Star Team From Here Still in Tourney

The two Babe Ruth All Star teams representing Fayette County in the Babe Ruth tournament at Phillipsburg split games there when the Nationals won and the Americans lost.

The National division All Stars cracked out 13 hits in rubbing the Americans from Fairbourne, 10-5, while in the second game under the lights the other Fayette County entry, the Americans, lost a 3-1 heartbreaker to Phillipsburg.

Terry Stillings hurled for the Nationals, scattering nine hits and walking two.

Mike Lawrence led the National attack with 4 for 4 while teammate Bob Huff and Jack Cartwright had three hits apiece. Lawrence, Huff and Cartwright also had three RBI's apiece. Doubles were hit by Lawrence, Bud Lynch and Huff.

The Nationals scored in every inning with four big tallies coming in the third frame.

Leading Fairbourne's nine hit invasion was third baseman Henley who hit safely four times, two of which were doubles.

The National Division will get back into tournament action Friday at 6 p. m. when they meet Hamilton, Westside at Phillipsburg.

Although Jim Cook twirled a two-hitter, the Americans could not score more than once and were beaten by Phillipsburg.

Corky Wilt had two for four while heading the American division hitters. Gil Crouse, Butch Rieber, John Campbell and Cook got one safety each.

Cook, declared by home team officials as the best pitcher ever to walk on the Phillipsburg diamond, met his downfall in the second inning. He had two strikes on the lead-off batter when he plunked him in the ribs. The same situation arose when Cook hit the next batter, moving the leadoff hitter to second with no outs.

But the righthander then apparently settled down by whiffing the third batter. Booker, fourth Phillipsburg batter in the inning then received the first of Cook's three free passes for the game.

With the bases loaded and one out Cook then whiffed the next batter. Bases still loaded, two down. The leftfielder then walked, forcing in the tying run from third. The ace hurler, in an attempt to bear down to the next batter, then cut loose a wild pitch scoring the second run of the inning.

The catcher, Bush, retrieved the ball and in an attempt to cut down the runner at the plate with the pitcher covering, threw the ball away.

The third man in the inning tallied on the frustrated catcher's miscue and the fourth was cut out.

Washington C. H. Boys Lose At Reformatory

Thanks to the Bloomingburg outfit, which beat the Blanchester boys, 15 to 5, on the field at Jeffersville Sunday, the Ross & Satterfield team of Washington C. H. kept out of the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League cellars.

For the R & S crew took a 20 to 0 trouncing at the Reformatory in Chillicothe at the same time.

The outcome of these two games left Blanchester last in the standing and Washington C. H. next to last. Blanchester has yet to win its first game and the R & S crew has won only one.

The Washington C. H. boys were doing all right at the Reformatory to the halfway point in the game, but after that things happened to them. They were trailing 11 to 6 after seven innings when the Reformatory lowered the boom with 9 runs in the eighth, and last, inning. Time ran out then, and the R & S boys joined their opponents in the Reformatory dining hall for supper.

In other games around the SCO Sunday, Milledgeville, Fayette County's third team in the loop, won a forfeit from the Chillicothe Businessmen when they could get only eight players on the Milledgeville field, and the Columbus All Stars continued their unbeaten romp with a 9 to 6 victory at Greenfield.

12 New Faces Due On Browns' Roster

CLEVELAND (AP)—There will be at least 12 new faces on the Cleveland Browns' squad when the training season gets underway at Hiram College this week.

The team, limited to 35 players by a new National Football League rule, reports for training Thursday but no field work is scheduled until next Monday.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, the only player left from the original 1946 Browns, will be back at tackle.

"I see no reason why Lou shouldn't have a couple more seasons at tackle for us," said Coach Paul E. Brown.

Legion Juniors Win at London

The Washington C. H. Legion Juniors won their second game of the season at London Sunday afternoon, but needed 15 runs to do it. In the extra inning contest Washington C. H. scored five in the tenth to win, 15-10.

Both wins have come at the expense of the Londoners, and both on the London lot.

In the 10-inning slugfest Washington C. H. smashed its first home runs of the season. Dave Korn belted a two-run job in the seventh, first of the year by a Legion Junior, and pitcher Bud Snyder had a two-run clout in the tenth.

In the biggest Legion spree of the year, Snyder, Billy Herman, Korn and Dick Welch, subbing for Larry Kilgore, all got 3 hits.

Everything seemed to go well for Washington C. H. as two double plays were started by field general Billy Herman and the

Ohio Golf Pros Seeking To Regain Prestige in Open

MANSFIELD, Ohio (P) - Ohio's golf professionals, chagrined a year ago when a 17-year-old high school amateur won their pet tournament, could be embarrassed
again here this week.

In the field of 134 which started the 72-hole medal play marathon
in the 36th State Open Tourney
today over Westbrook Country
Club's 6,308-yard, par-72 course are 53 of the Buckeye realm's best simon pures.

Last year at Marietta, young
Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus became the third amateur to take the open title—a feat performed
previously only by Maurice Mc-
Carthy of Cincinnati in 1944 and
Frankie Stranahan of Toledo in 1948. This year, however, Nicklaus passed up the defense of his title
to compete in the National Jay-Cee Tournament at Cincinnati today and Tuesday.

The professionals, determined it would not happen again this year,
had some of their biggest guns in the current competition. Among them were four former winners
who have accounted for eight championships since 1928. They are Jack Thompson Sr. of Youngstown, who triumphed 29 years ago;
Denny Shute of Akron, the winner
in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1950; Johnny Krisiko of Ashland, 1946; and Herman Keiser of Jarberton, the 1949
and 1951 victor.

Keiser also won the 1946 Masters
Tournament and Shute has one of the country's outstanding professional records. The 54-year-old
Akronite won the 1933 British
Open, was runner-up for the National PGA in 1931 and won it in 1936 and 1937, tied for the National Open in 1939 and was second in 1941, and three times was a member of the U. S. Ryder Cup team.

Also bating away for the pros will be Harold Padlock of Cleveland, and Bob Kepler of Columbus, Ohio State coach, both former State Amateur champions; Val Chivierini of Swanton, three-time Public Links winner; Mel Carpenter of Columbus, who also won that title and Earl Christiansen, the Athens sporting goods salesman who finished second to Nick-laus in 1956.

The amateurs will make their big bid with Bob Ross Jr. of Springfield, State Junior champion in 1955 and 1956, and the current State Amateur champion;
Larry Snyder of Athens, the Ohio
Junior winner this year; former amateur champion Tom Jones Jr.
of Youngstown; Bob Shave Jr. of Cleveland, runner up for the amateur title the last two years;
Ted Katula of Columbus and William Sporre of Dayton, both members of Ohio State's squad;
and E. W. Carmichael of Springfield.

Most of the amateur group finished high in the state tournament
at Springfield a week ago. Ross,
who tore his home - Springfield
Country Club course apart in winning the amateur, fired a 69 here
Sunday, the finest practice round of the day. He had four birdies
and one bogie and then practiced for two hours because he said his putting was slightly off.

Keiser holds the tournament record of 270 for 72 holes, fired at Linia in 1951. A score of around 283 or more is expected to finish
out front here.

South Ohio Public Lands To Be Opened To Squirrel Hunters

COLUMBUS (P) - More than 211-
000 acres of public lands in southern Ohio will be open to squirrel hunters who have an earlier season this year.

The southern squirrel hunting season opens Sept. 2 and runs through Oct. 31. The northern squi-rel hunting season begins Sept. 16
and ends Oct. 31.

The State division of wildlife today listed these larger public hunting areas:

Shawnee-Roosevelt state forest,
54,000 acres in Scioto and Adams counties; Tar Hollow state forest, 16,000 acres in Ross and Hocking counties; Zaleski state forest, 1,8-000 acres in Vinton County; Wayne national forest, 105,000 acres in Jackson, Monroe, Morgan, Perry, Lawrence, Athens, Gallia and Washington counties; Brush Creek wildlife area, 1,700 acres in Jefferson County and Trimble wildlife area, 2,000 acres in Athens County.

Fisherman Saved After Drifting In Lake Erie

PORT CLINTON (P) - "I thought I was a goner," Harry Jennings of Toledo said when the Coast Guard pulled him from Lake Erie where he had been drifting for 18 hours.

The 46-year-old fisherman fell from his 21-foot inboard motorboat last Saturday night and was rescued by a Coast Guard cutter from Marblehead, Sunday.

When he fell overboard, Jennings' boat was being out loose from a 40-foot yacht which had been towing it for two hours. Both boats were lost in the fog.

Mrs. Jennings, who was also aboard the boat, attempted to pull her husband aboard but his 210 pounds proved too much for her.
She threw him a life jacket and he drifted away in the darkness.

Ohio Golf Pros Seeking

To Regain Prestige in Open

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) - Ohio's golf professionals, chagrined a year ago when a 17-year-old high school amateur won their pet
tournament, could be embarrassed
again here this week.

In the field of 134 which started
the 72-hole medal play marathon
in the 36th State Open Tourney
today over Westbrook Country
Club's 6,308-yard, par-72 course are 53 of the Buckeye realm's best simon pures.

Last year at Marietta, young
Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus became the third amateur to take
the open title—a feat performed
previously only by Maurice Mc-
Carthy of Cincinnati in 1944 and
Frankie Stranahan of Toledo in 1948. This year, however, Nicklaus
passed up the defense of his title
to compete in the National Jaycee Tournament at Cincinnati today and Tuesday.

The professionals, determined it would not happen again this year,
had some of their biggest guns
in the current competition. Among them were four former winners
who have accounted for eight championships since 1928. They are Jack Thompson Sr. of Youngstown, who triumphed 29 years ago;
Denny Shute of Akron, the winner
in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1950; Johnny
Krisiko of Ashland, 1946; and Herman Keiser of Zbarbenton, the 1949
and 1951 victor.

Keiser also won the 1946 Masters
Tournament and Shute has one of
the country's outstanding professional records. The 54-year-old
Akronite won the 1933 British
Open, was runner-up for the National PGA in 1931 and won it in 1936 and 1937, tied for the National Open in 1939 and was second in 1941, and three times was a member of the U. S. Ryder Cup
team.

Also banging away for the pros will be Harold Paddock of Cleveland, and Bob Keppeler of Columbus, Ohio State coach, both former State Amateur champions.

Val Chiaverini of Swanton, three-time Public Links winner; Mel Carter of Columbus, who also won that title and Earl Christiansen, the Athens sporting goods salesman who finished second to Nick-laus in 1956.

The amateurs will make their
big bid with Bob Ross Jr. of Springfield, State Junior champion in 1955 and 1956, and the current State Amateur champion;
Larry Snyder of Athens, the Ohio
Junior winner this year; former
amateur champion Tom Jones Jr.
of Youngstown; Bob Shave Jr. of
Cleveland, runner up for the amateur title the last two years;
Ted Katula of Columbus and
William Sporre of Dayton, both
members of Ohio State's squad;
and E. W. Carmichael of Springfield.

Most of the amateur group finished high in the state tournament
at Springfield a week ago. Ross,
who tore his home - Springfield
Country Club course apart in winning the amateur, fired a 69 here
Sunday, the finest practice round of the day. He had four birdies
and one bogie and then practiced
for two hours because he said his
putting was slightly off.

Keiser holds the tournament record of 270 for 72 holes, fired at Lima in 1951. A score of around
283 or more is expected to finish
out front here.

South Ohio Public Lands To Be Opened To Squirrel Hunters

COLUMBUS (AP) - More than 211-
000 acres of public lands in southern Ohio will be open to squirrel
hunters who have an earlier season this year.

The southern squirrel hunting season opens Sept. 2 and runs through Oct. 31. The northern squirrel hunting season begins Sept. 16
and ends Oct. 31.

The Ohio Hereford Barbecue held last Thursday at Bea Mar Farms was a fine success. A large number of 4-H and FFA teams of boys and girls from all over Ohio competed in the judging. At high noon the barbecued beef was removed from the pit by Larry Kinkel of Ohio State University who had supervised the job from the start. To say the beef was delicious is putting it mildly. Everyone had plenty with some to spare including yours truly and that takes a lot of beef. It was truly a day with plenty of beef but no beefing.

This is Fayette Co. Fair Week. I spent a good part of last week at the Fairgrounds. If you don't think it's a lot of work to get ready for a GOOD FAIR just come out a few days ahead of the Fair. There are weeds to mow, pens to build, barns to clean out, tents to put up and then all the displays: Cattle, hogs, sheep, horses, grains, fruits, flowers, needlework, craftswork, machinery, automobiles (I almost forgot them), so come out early and stay late so you can see everything. Good racing in the afternoon. Fine entertainment at night. The Junior Fair will be something to remember.

Oh Yes! Big Ostrich race two evenings and we will need drivers.

Now watch for Brandenburg's special ad for Fair Week. You'll be glad you did. Be seeing you at the Fair and if you have more fried chicken than you need just let me know.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

County Commissioners Meet

Hospital Bond Issue Request Certified to Board of Elections

A resolution certifying to the Fayette County Board of Elections their request for a total bond issue of $780,000 for improvement and expansion of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, was passed by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at their regular Monday session.

The bond issue as computed by the county auditor will call for an average annual tax over a period of 23 years of .81 of a mill. Of the total amount to be sought by a vote of the people at the election Nov. 5, $700,000 is for new construction and alterations in the present hospital structure and $80,000 for furnishings and equipment.

The resolution was to be filed with the election board the same day as passed. Under the law it must be in the hands of that board 90 days prior to the election in which it appears on the ballot.

THE COMMISSIONERS are expected to submit to the voters at the November election, a special operating tax levy of .65 of a mill for a period of five years for hospital upkeep and replacement of necessary equipment as needed from time to time. This will be a separate levy from the expansion program and is estimated to cover renewal of equipment and other items and incidentals.

DURING their Monday session the commissioners approved animal claims for sheep and chickens killed by dogs to the amount of $32.35. The claims were presented by eight different owners. Money for this payment comes from the county's dog and kennel fund through sale of dog licenses. No damage claim is allowed for more than an amount on which any animal killed was on the tax duplicate.

It was announced at Monday's session that board members, accompanied by County Engineer Charles Wagner, will make an inspection trip over a number of county roads Monday afternoon to determine which will need improvement before the coming winter. Most of the repairs contemplated will be in resurfacing.

WAGNER said that his department desires to warn passengers

WHS Band To Play Three Days at Fair

After four weeks of practice, Washington C. H. High School Band members today are getting their white shirts and white trousers ready to wear to the Fair this week.

Why the special dress? The band is to play before and during the harness racing program Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon. It will start with a concert at 1 p. m. each day, half an hour before post time for the first race. The regular blue wool uniforms are considered too heavy in hot July weather.

In the 80-piece band will be around 35 new members, who have come up from the Junior band to take the places of the seniors who were graduated from high school last May. This will be their first public appearance in the varsity.

The band, normally has 110 pieces, but vacations with families and jobs have reduced it to around 80 pieces for the mid-summer performance. Bandmaster Robert Neumann explained.

The band has been coordinated into a musical unit during the last month at rehearsals every Wednesday evening in the band room at the high school, Neumann said.

The Jeffersonville High School Band will play for the races Saturday afternoon.

County Commissioners Meet

Hospital Bond Issue Request Certified to Board of Elections

A resolution certifying to the Fayette County Board of Elections their request for a total bond issue of $780,000 for improvement and expansion of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, was passed by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners at their regular Monday session.

The bond issue as computed by the county auditor will call for an average annual tax over a period of 23 years of .81 of a mill. Of the total amount to be sought by a vote of the people at the election Nov. 5, $700,000 is for new construction and alterations in the present hospital structure and $80,000 for furnishings and equipment.

The resolution was to be filed with the election board the same day as passed. Under the law it must be in the hands of that board 90 days prior to the election in which it appears on the ballot.

THE COMMISSIONERS are expected to submit to the voters at the November election, a special operating tax levy of .65 of a mill for a period of five years for hospital upkeep and replacement of necessary equipment as needed from time to time. This will be a separate levy from the expansion program and is estimated to cover renewal of equipment and other items and incidentals.

DURING their Monday session the commissioners approved animal claims for sheep and chickens killed by dogs to the amount of $392.35. The claims were presented by eight different owners. Money for this payment comes from the county's dog and kennel fund through sale of dog licenses. No damage claim is allowed for more than an amount on which any animal killed was on the tax duplicate.

It was announced at Monday's session that board members, accompanied by County Engineer Charles Wagner, will make an inspection trip over a number of county roads Monday afternoon to determine which will need improvement before the coming winter. Most of the repairs contemplated will be in resurfacing.

WAGNER said that his department desires to warn passengers car and truck drivers against fast driving on some of the county roads resurfaced.

He states that in exceptionally hot weather, the asphalt resurfacing is inclined to "bleed" to some extent, causing speedy cars to pick up small particles of asphalt as a result.
